Train-Auto Smashup Kills Corte Madera Army Doctor

Sports Car Crushed On Paradise Drive

A 31-year-old Army physician from Corte Madera was killed when a train hit his sports car yesterday at 2:15 p.m. at the Paradise Drive crossing on the edge of his home town.

Capt. Philip Irving Rossman of 26 Windward Drive, an eye specialist at Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, was thrown from the Renault as the train dragged the car 375 feet.

Corte Madera police found Rossman's body, in uniform, lying face down beside the tracks, 30 feet from where the train stopped. He died instantly of extensive head fractures, facial injuries and cuts and bruises of the upper torso, according to the coroner's office.

The car, hit broadside from the right, was wedged under the front of the train.

Robert Elwood Simonson of Willits was engineer of the Northwestern Pacific train, which was pulling three loaded 50-foot cars and a caboose.

The regular crossing is marked by standard railroad crossing signs, two flashing red lights facing in each direction on Paradise Drive, and warning bells. A train crosses the intersection four times each week, twice on Thursdays and twice on Mondays.

POINT OF IMPACT

Corte Madera police decided this morning that the point of impact was in the county, as the town boundary runs across the intersection, so turned the investigation of the California Highway Patrol officers, who said they hope to have a determination on how the accident happened by tomorrow. Several persons witnessed the collision.

Rossman was born in Ohio, and came to California four months ago. He entered the Army in September, 1966.

He is survived by his wife, Linda M. Rossman of Corte Madera; a son, Reid, 3, and a daughter, Leslie, 18 months.

OHIO FUNERAL

His body was taken to Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, for autopsy, and will be shipped to Ohio for funeral.

Rossman was the eighth person to die in traffic accidents in Marin this year, compared to two at this time last year.

He was also the second person killed by a train in Marin within two months, although few trains run here. On Nov. 28, Mrs. Zelma Hermine Bruveris, 58, of Sausalito was killed by an NWP freight train as she crossed the tracks at an abandoned grade crossing in Sausalito, carrying an armful of groceries in a rainstorm.

It was raining yesterday, too, when Captain Rossman met his death in the Corte Madera crash.

Prosecutor Says Baker Told Lies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government prosecutor told the jurors at the Robert G. (Bobby) Baker trial today that the former Senate aide had not told them the truth about his income taxes and his widespread business operation.

U.S. Atty. William O. Bittman made the allegation as both sides began their summing up in the three weeks trial.

The case will go to the jury of six women and six men tomorrow.

Spaniards Routed

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Police swinging clubs broke up a crowd of 300 workers trying to demonstrate today against the high cost of living in Madrid. Handbills had announced demonstrations in other major cities, and all police were on the alert.

23-Inch Snow Buries Chicago In High Drifts

CHICAGO (UPI) — The worst storm in the history of Chicago paralyzed the city today with more than 23 inches of snow and drifts up to 15 feet high. Zero weather was expected tonight.

The impact of the storm ground life to a standstill from Kansas to Michigan. The snow ended officially at Chicago at 10:10 a.m. CST after a 29-hour siege.

Nearly all activity in Chicago's busy downtown Loop slowed to a crawl. City, county and state officials urged all persons to stay out of the Loop unless absolutely necessary.

The Chicago Board of Trade, Mercantile Exchange, many stores, offices and factories, courts and the U. S. Post Office all cancelled services and operations.

All schools were closed for the first time in Chicago's history. In Detroit the wholesale closing was only the second time in that city's history. Elsewhere in Michigan, Lansing and Flint were immobilized. National Guard troops were called out in southern Michigan to help search for stranded motorists.

Bay Transport Survey Planned

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Bay Area Transportation Study Commission will begin preparing a plan to project transportation needs for the nine-county Bay Area through 1980.

Four million data cards will be used to establish the short-range plan, Director Richard M. Zettel said yesterday. The cards contain information on land use, population trends, employment, travel patterns and related matters.

A long-range plan, geared for presentation to the 1969 legislature, will be prepared after short term proposals are completed, Zettel said.

Sino-Soviet Border Tension Being Watched

McNamara Sees Tougher Russian Defense Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is toughening its defenses against Red China because of serious border problems between the two nations, reports Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Breaking a long administrative silence on the Sino-Soviet dispute, the defense chief noted that "while an outbreak of hostilities between China and the Soviet Union does not appear probable at this time, the tension on the borders is likely to continue."

McNamara depicted the Soviet Union as more "self-confident" and said this attitude is reflected in its open renewal of the ideological dispute with the Chinese.

ANNUAL REPORT

The remarks came in McNamara's annual posture report to Congress, a long summation of the U.S. defense position given on the eve of congressional hearings on the administration's $72.3-billion defense budget. The 210-page McNamara document was made public last night.

In it, McNamara again restated his case against deployment of a Nike X antimissile defense system and, in what amounted to a direct warning to the Soviet Union, said a further push in the arms race by the Soviets would be "dangerous and expensive."

To counter the possibility that current U.S.-Soviet arms negotiations break down, McNamara said the Pentagon now is "undertaking a very comprehensive study of a new strategic missile system."

MISSILES VIEW

He also revealed the United States expects to maintain a significant lead in intercontinental missiles over the Soviet Union until well into the 1970s and again emphasized this nation's reliance on offensive weapons, and not defensive systems.

40 Other Nations To Endorse Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia signed a historic treaty today to ban nuclear weapons from outer space, the first major East-West agreement in four years.

President Johnson was to preside over formal ceremonies at the White House, endorsing, in effect, what was concluded with similar 19th Century pomp in Moscow earlier in the day.

The Washington ceremony was scheduled for 5 p.m. EST. Forty or more nations—big and small—were planning to sign the pact in Washington; additional countries were to sign it in Moscow or in London. Britain is the other principal signatory to the agreement.

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Harrison signed the treaty in a marbled ceremonial hall of the foreign ministry's Spiridonovka Palace.

Gromyko said that the treaty—the first major east-west agreement since the escalation of the Vietnam war—"will contribute to the settlement of other major international problems."

The treaty was hammered out in negotiations at the United Nations last December. It has been described as the first important legal document of the space age.

After years of protracted negotiations, it is now believed that an agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons may finally be in sight, possibly this year.

Diplomatic observers in Moscow also believe that the new treaty may stimulate further useful talks on possible extension of the 1963 Nuclear Test Ban Treaty to ban underground nuclear explosions.

The new treaty reserves the moon and other celestial bodies exclusively for peaceful purposes, and bans weapons of mass destruction from orbit or stationing in outer space.

It also bars military bases on celestial bodies and provides for inspection visits on space stations to insure they are not for military use.

In a less spectacular but equally important field over the long run, it provides the first basic international law of space, including liability for damages caused by space vehicles and an unconditional obligation to help return astronauts who land elsewhere than planned.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. infantrymen today wound up the biggest operation so far in the Vietnam war, claiming 720 enemy dead. Meanwhile U.S. Marines pressed ahead with a new drive in the northern part of South Vietnam.

Backed by tanks, artillery and planes, the Leathernecks in the new Operation Tuscaloosa reported killing 74 Red soldiers in day-long fighting 15 miles southeast of Da Nang, the big Marine base on the northern coast.

The U.S. command announced the end of Operation Cedar Falls, which sent an estimated 30,000 Americans to the jungled "iron triangle" 20 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon for a 19-day scorched earth campaign.

In addition to the 720 Communist dead reported, the Americans captured a record 3,709 tons of rice, enough to feed 10,000 troops for a year. The purpose of the operation was to make the triangle useless as a base from which to menace Saigon.

Reagan To Make TV Report On Monday

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan will make a report "of great importance to the people" Monday evening, one of his press aides said today.

The subject of the already-filmed television report was not disclosed, but Paul Beck, assistant press secretary, said it dealt with fiscal affairs.

BRADEN, former resident of the Board of Education, said he discussed the matter with Kuchel in Washington last week.

Braden said he would become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate "if a lot of people want me to." But he said he has no present plans to enter the race.

Kuchel Expecting To Face Rafferty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., expects Max Rafferty to run against him in next year's GOP primary election, Thomas Braden said today.

Slides Block Roads; More Rain On Way

Slides continued yesterday and today to block roads and threaten homes throughout rain-saturated Marin County, and no let-up in the present storm is in sight. (See also story, photos, page 6.)

Rain blanketed most of Northern and Central California is expected to continue off and on through next Wednesday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Rainfall of .61 of an inch in San Rafael in the 24 hours to noon today brought the season's total above the average for the entire rainfall year—July 1 to June 30—with five months yet to go. The total to date is 36.31 inches; average annual rainfall 36.2.

Two huge slides partially blocked Highway 101 on Waldo Grade and California Hill just south of San Rafael, yesterday. Minor slides were reported in many places along Shoreline Highway. Other slides temporarily blocked streets in Mill Valley and Tamalpais Valley.

Most seriously endangered homes today were those of W. G. Stone at 292 Via La Paz and Robert W. Bauer at 100 Via Navarro in Greenbrae.

Earth slippage is undermining Stone's house and threatening to send it down a steep bank onto the Bauer house below. Stone's porch was removed after it began breaking away from the house. Neighbors of the two families helped cover the bank with sheets of plastic.

The slide caused the only interruption of power service reported by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. yesterday, shut off service to 50 Greenbrae homes for 15 minutes to remove a threatened power pole.

The first blockage of Highway 101 occurred at 2 p.m. on California Hill when a six-ton boulder, accompanied by masses of loose rock, shut off two southbound lanes. A crane moved the car-sized boulder and lanes were cleared by 3 p.m.

At 6 p.m., a huge rock slide shut off two southbound lanes on Waldo Grade near Rodeo Avenue. It was midnight before the highway was fully cleared of loose rock.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said all county roads were open, but that his crews were cleaning up fallen

Teen-Agers Linked To Drug Orders

Allegations that high school students in Marin County ordered and bought as much as $400 worth of drugs at a time from three Walnut Creek men were made today as Marin sheriff's deputies disclosed the part they played in cracking a Contra Costa "pot pushing" ring.

Indicted on narcotics charges by Contra Costa County Grand Jury were Oliver Dyer-Bennett, 23; Alan Read Turner, 21, and Scott Allen Meyer, 19, all of Walnut Creek.

They were charged with possession of marijuana, peyote and opium and maintaining a house where narcotics were being used. Dyer-Bennett faces two additional counts of selling drugs to minors.

Turner and Meyer acted as pushers, according to Marin Sheriff's Deputy Charles Prandi. They visited high schools in Marin and took orders for marijuana and other drugs from teen-agers, Prandi said, later returning to Marin with the orders, filled by Dyer-Bennett.

Prandi estimated orders from Marin teen-agers totalled between $300 and $400 each trip.

Law officers began to close in on the three after a 19-year-old Marin County youth called to see Prandi and said he was on LSD and needed help.

The deputy said the youth told him he got the drug from a Walnut Creek address, and reported that while on a visit there, he had seen a station wagon crammed with

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

France's Stormy Marshal Dies

PARIS (AP)—Marshal Alphonse Juin died early today at Val de Grace Hospital where he was under treatment for a heart condition.

Junin, 78, was the only living marshal of France, his country's highest military rank. He joined the army at 19 and served continuously until 1956, when he resigned as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Central Europe.

Junin

Junin became France's most controversial military figure after World War II, battling with his own government almost as strenuously as he ever did with the enemy.

During his long career, Juin fought the Arabs in North Africa, the Germans in two world wars, the Italians in the second and, in 1942, fought for three days against the U.S. forces of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as they landed in North Africa. Then he switched sides along with his forces and after the war became one of Eisenhower's most trusted aides in setting up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In May 1953, the French government made him a marshal which put him on the active list of the army for his lifetime.

The outspoken marshal had been frequently critical of President Charles de Gaulle's policy of independence for Algeria, which was Juin's place of birth and the last symbol of French colonial grandeur.

Jury Hears Sinatra

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Singer Frank Sinatra, kicked out of Nevada gambling in 1963 for "catering" to a Chicago underworld figure, appeared yesterday before a federal grand jury investigating possible tax evasion by Nevada gambling casinos.

Sinatra, who was subpoenaed, testified behind closed doors for about 45 minutes. The jury heard one additional witness, the 101st to appear, then adjourned, probably for at least one month.

Red Youth To Farm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio says 50,000 youths are slated to spend two years doing agricultural work in a plan sponsored by the Communist party and the Communists youth union.

Japan-U.S. TV Link

TOKYO (AP)—Color television pictures, newspaper reports, telephone calls and press photos flashed through the Pacific sky today as the United States and Japan inaugurated commercial satellite communications service via Lani Bird 2.

President Johnson said the new satellite stands for the pledge of government, science and commerce that "space will be a zone of peace, devoted to the purposes of all mankind."

The service promises deeper understanding between East and West, he said.

Tito Moscow-Bound

MOSCOW (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia and his wife arrived today in Chop, a small city on the Soviet border with Hungary and Czechoslovakia, it was reported from Moscow. Tito is due in the Soviet capital tomorrow for informal talks with Soviet leaders.

Trucks Recalled; Steering Defects

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI)—A steering defect in 321 GMC "E" model trucks has caused General Motors to recall the vehicles for modifications. GM's GMC Truck & Coach Division said yesterday that pressure lines for power steering could be damaged, causing a loss of power assist but not control.

GM said no accidents have been reported due to the two steering problems.

Chinese Rebellion Growing Bloodier

TOKYO (UPI)—Japanese news reports from Peking today said more than 100 persons have been killed and "unknown numbers" injured in bloody clashes near the Soviet border in Red China between friends and foes of Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The Peking correspondent of the Kyodo News Agency said wall posters in Peking also reported that Red Chinese Army armored units may be sent to quell the uprising in Sinkiang-Uighur Province.

The fighting involved machineguns, grenades and rifles, the reports said.

MASSACRE REPORTED
The wall posters added to mounting reports of major bloodshed in Red China's massive power struggle. Yesterday, a Chinese farm woman arrived in Hong Kong and reported seeing about 100 men and women tied and then machinegunned by Mao supporters in front of a cheering crowd.

Blood spilled also in reported fighting yesterday in Manchuria where Mao's forces battled a "Dragon Army" of peasants and workers and in the central Chinese province of Kiangsi where the leader's men claimed victory over a 200,000-member anti-Mao force.

TROUBLES REVEALED
The wall posters of Peking reported forces loyal to Mao controlled only portions of Sinkiang-Uighur. They claimed mastery of the province's center and main roads but acknowledged "breaks" hampering communication with the rest of Red China.

The frontier area long has been reported a less than happy hunting ground for Mao. For years Moscow has reported anti-Mao feeling running high among the non-Chinese natives of the area and reported fighting breaking out.

OTHER FIGHTING
The Japanese press reports also quoted the wall posters as saying serious fighting had broken out elsewhere. The posters also attacked Communist Party leaders in Sinkiang-Uighur for failing to rally to Mao and for aiding his foes.

Mao personally told Premier Chou En-Lai to "isolate the (anti-Mao) powerholders and divide them into a minority and then crush them," said wall posters in Peking reported by Japanese correspondents.

The posters indicated Mao's purge orders came in a conference mapping "final strategy" for his forces in the stunning power struggle sweeping mainland China.

According to the Peking reports, Mao told Chou to carry out a "total reorganization" of the government. He said some government officials could remain in office but must be "firmly controlled." The rest must be sent off to factory work or "punished after investigation," the wall posters said.

Mao's men also moved to halt their fanatic supporters from attacking Chou and the leader's wife.

Japanese newsmen in Peking said Chen Po-ta, chairman of Mao's cultural revolution subcommittee, verbally lashed a capital gathering of zealot Red Guards. Chen told them to stop accusing Chou and Madame Mao, dowdy former film actress Chiang Ching, of veering from their leader's line. He said there was "no question" of their loyalty.

Travelers returning from China foreigners in Peking and Communist radio broadcasts poured out a saga of bloodshed and uncomradely communism comparable only to Josef Stalin's Soviet purges of the 1930's.

A Nixon Offer To Parkinson
WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, recently retired California Republican chairman, says Richard M. Nixon has offered him a major post in a Nixon-For-President organization, the Washington Post reported today.

Parkinson told the Post he also has been offered a job by Michigan Gov. George Romney, another potential 1968 presidential candidate, but will make no immediate decision on which offer, if either, to accept.

The Post said Romney spokesmen acknowledged their offer but that Nixon spokesmen would say only that the former vice president had dined with Parkinson Tuesday in New York.

Junta Names New Ky Aide

SAIGON (UPI)—Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky's ruling military junta today named Army Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Cao Van Vien to replace ousted Deputy Prime Minister Nguyen Huu Co as defense minister, an official communique said.

The generals of the National Leadership Council (NLC) left vacant the post of vice prime minister.

Co, who held the posts of deputy prime minister and defense minister, was reportedly still in Hong Kong.

Senators May Talk To Johnson About Hanoi Bomb Ban Worries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Sen. Peter H. Dominick said today critical senators may go directly to President Johnson with their complaints about the restrictions imposed on U.S. pilots operating over North Vietnam.

And Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., forecast a campaign to mobilize public opinion and seek relaxation of the rules.

Dominick said senators who contend that target restrictions are preventing aerial success in the war will press their case with the administration, and may seek to do so at the White House.

The Colorado senator said Johnson is keeping close rein on the air war "on the grounds that this is a political war."

Tower and Dominick, both members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, made their comments in interviews after an angry round of Senate debate over the targeting restrictions.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., told the Senate yesterday "it would be better to terminate hostilities" than to continue the air war under targeting restrictions he called "abnormal and unprecedented."

Tower said the question of restrictions on air operations near Hanoi has come up this week during Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's appearances before the Armed Services Committee.

But Tower would not discuss the matter, saying classified material is involved.

In other developments:

McNamara and other top Pentagon officials return for more secret testimony today and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Armed Services Committee chairman, said he will ask early action by the panel on a $4.4-billion authorization for military hardware needed in Vietnam. This is about one-third of the $12.3 billion supplemental appropriation the administration has asked for Vietnam.

Officials reported the United States has made indirect contact with representatives of the Viet Cong in an effort to provide for the welfare of Americans believed to be held prisoner by Communist forces in South Vietnam. But Johnson administration officials denied any peace dealings had been going on with the Viet Cong.

The State Department said non-Communist exports to North Vietnam increased during 1965, but added that in 1966 the number of Western ships calling at North Vietnamese ports dropped sharply. "None of this trade is in strategic goods," the department said.

Charter Swim Members Back Pool Decision

Chairman Clarence Bush of Strawberry Recreation District said today that more than two dozen charter members of the Strawberry Swim Club have donated their memberships to the district to show support for the board's action to make the Strawberry swimming pool a public facility.

Bush said these donations have a value of $200 each to the district. The board's decision to take over the pool was made at its Jan. 4 meeting. Bush said the directors were surprised at the strong community support.

He said actual notice of termination of the swim club lease would be discussed at the next regular meeting of the district board on next Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Strawberry School.

Also on the agenda will be discussion of a proposed bond election in the new special zone created to dredge and maintain Strawberry Channel. The bond issue would only apply to the limited area of the zone, which includes 32 homes.

J. Paul Wilkins, professional at the Belvedere Tennis Club, has been invited to talk with the directors about an instructional program for spring and summer tennis programs on the district's courts.

Rod Jones Voted Senior Class Leader

Rod Jones, son of CWO and Mrs. Francis E. Jones of 201 Westover Circle, Hamilton Air Force Base, is president of the senior class at Terra Linda High School for the spring semester.

Other officers elected in Wednesday's senior class election were Sandi Bridges of Novato, vice president; Kathy Pease of Hamilton Air Force Base, secretary, and Marsha Zitella of Novato, secretary.

Only other election was for two posts in the freshman class filled by appointment by the student council at the start of the year. School reporter Linda Keating explained that the freshmen officers wanted the posts of treasurer and secretary filled by election.

Gary Katz of San Rafael, was elected treasurer, and Yvonne Chang of Lucas Valley, secretary. Appointed incumbents were William Hook Jr., treasurer, and Debbie Davis, secretary.

All other class officers at the school serve both semesters.

Dinner Meeting In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Town Council and the town's elected and appointed officials and their staffs will have a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Bob's of Marin.

Topics for discussion at the meeting include the town's capital improvement program related to general plan accomplishments and objectives, park and recreation organization, and the impact of increased commercial development on planning and design standards.

The group will also discuss underground utility policy and funding, use of vacant land, and the value of area identity within the community.

Gallinas Villagers Ask Flood Questions

Sixty residents of Gallinas Village Community Services District last night fired questions at county officials, trying to find out when their problems of flood control and street maintenance will be solved.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said that under the present financing of the Santa Venetia Flood Control Zone, it will be about five years before all the necessary drainage remedies are completed.

The maximum zone tax of $1 per $100 assessed valuation brings in no more than $28,000 each year. Frost said his department is still trying to find some way to expand boundaries of the zone to take in the entire watershed. An earlier effort at expansion was defeated by those outside the boundaries.

CSD secretary Marguerite F. Clark said residents also complained of poor condition of streets, limited use of the county street sweeper, and traffic safety signs.

Frost promised to seek some way to improve the school crossing on North San Pedro Road at Tweedie's General Store. County supervisor John F. McInnis also attended the meeting.

LBJ's Social Life Cut By Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson is holding his outside activities to a minimum to concentrate on a long series of messages expected to start moving to Congress next week.

White House Press Secretary George Christian said yesterday that the Chief Executive was working on about 15 special messages, some of which he expects to be ready for submission to Congress sometime next week.

Free TB Tests For Children

The Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. will offer free tuberculosis tests again this year to children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Testing will begin Feb. 6 at the four schools of the Larkspur School District, followed by Lagunitas district pupils Feb. 27 and the students of St. Isabella's School, Terra Linda, and St. Anselm's School, San Anselmo, on March 6.

The association estimates about 3,100 children will be tested this year. The program is co-sponsored by the Marin County Health Department, the schools and parent groups.

FBI's Teletype-Computer Files Make Debut Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI today deployed a potent new weapon in the war against crime.

It is a fantastically complicated system of high speed electronic computers which will enable local police departments in all parts of the country to obtain, by teletype, within a few seconds information for which they previously might have waited several days.

It is called the National Crime Information Center. It began operation today.

The center will serve as a national clearing house for descriptions of wanted criminals, stolen cars and other types of stolen property, such as firearms, that are susceptible of precise identification as by serial numbers.

State and municipal police departments and regional FBI offices will feed information into the center's computers, as well as submit teletype inquiries.

FBI officials are sensitive to charges by some critics that the center may become an all-seeing "big brother is watching you" operation in which every citizen's traffic tickets or other minor brushes with the law are recorded.

To allay that concern, they emphasize that it will keep electronic files only on persons sought for serious crimes which would warrant extradition from one state to another.

Technicians have assured the FBI that the system eventually will be able to handle photographs and fingerprints.

Playing Role Held Way To Help In Learning

Games in the classroom, with children acting roles of politicians or businessmen or scientists or artists or diplomats, help develop children's creativity, Marin County teachers were told today by Dr. Paul Plowman, co-director of a state project aimed at developing methods to instruct gifted children.

More than 400 teachers sat in College of Marin's gymnasium for the opening session of the Marin County Teachers' Institute. Most districts closed schools to allow teachers to attend; others doubled up classes so some teachers could go to morning or afternoon sessions.

Dr. Plowman, a nationally recognized expert on education, defined a creative person as "one who indeed responds fully to his environment," and emphasized he took issue "with people who define creativity in terms of I.Q."

He advised the teachers: "Do not prejudice students' ideas as wild. Reward originality. Be yourself an exemplary person, one who is concerned with human beings."

Dr. Plowman said in an interview after his lecture said the games concept, thousands of years old, has been rediscovered in educational theories recently.

Role playing is of benefit to all children, said Dr. Plowman, not only the gifted. Nor has he encountered opposition from parents who might contend the child goes to school to learn, not play games.

He told teachers that "if the administrative structure is fluid enough, we can allow children to play how and where they will spend part of each school day."

To foster artistic creativity, he suggested Parent-Teacher Associations might be encouraged to donate "real art instead of duplicating machines to schools."

Housekeeper Arrested In Delinquency

A 43-year-old housekeeper who allegedly staged a marijuana and wine party for teenagers in a Marin Heights home above Homestead Valley was arrested yesterday on charges of contributing to the delinquency of one of the youths.

Zoey Katherine Burns, of Fern Court, Stinson Beach, was booked in county jail by sheriff's officers, then released on $550 bail. She was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Sheriff's Deputy Charles Prandi said Mrs. Burns, a divorcee, was hired as a housekeeper and baby-sitter Nov. 27 by Mrs. John Henricks of 328 Ridgewood Avenue, Marin Heights.

Shortly afterward, he said, Mr. and Mrs. Henricks left to visit Salt Lake City, Utah, leaving Mrs. Burns in charge of their five children, aged 3 to 16.

From Dec. 1 to Dec. 17, according to investigators, Mrs. Burns allegedly entertained a 16-year-old Sausalito youth, and two other teen-aged youths in the home. A 14-year-old girl was present.

Deputy Prandi said Mrs. Burns allegedly once sent the Sausalito youth out to purchase marijuana, he returned with "five or six" marijuana cigarettes, and the group smoked them at the home. She also got 12 bottles of wine.

On Dec. 9, following return of Mr. and Mrs. Henricks from Utah, Mrs. Burns, her daughter, and the Sausalito youth drove to Phoenix, Ariz., according to Prandi.

There, Phoenix police found them in a vacant house, and reported the youth admitted he had run away from home. He was returned to Sausalito, but Mrs. Burns and her daughter were released.

The complaint against Mrs. Burns was filed after the youth's father informed Sausalito police, who in turn called sheriff's officers. Mrs. Burns was arrested at a high school when she stopped to pick up her daughter at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

11:34 a.m. San Anselmo — House fire at home of Dr. John Raison, 4 Luzerne Circle, started by ashes from fireplace, caused $7,000 damage to house, porch and garage.

12:48 p.m. Tamalpais Valley — Fire in rear bedroom of Jerry Randall home, 208 Cardinal Road, apparently started by 3-year-old boy, $3,000 estimated damage.

2:10 p.m. Fairfax — False alarm call to Manor School.

Flood Tally Reaches $536,000

The tally of flood damage to private property in Marin had already reached $536,000 by noon today and reports continued to arrive at the Marin County Disaster and Civil Defense Office at the Civic Center.

"We haven't even gotten started yet," civil defense coordinator James V. Burdick said today. His office is a clearing house for all damage reports. He wants to be prepared with an estimate of total flood loss by the time an inspection team from the state disaster office arrives in the county Tuesday to see whether Marin should be declared a disaster area.

Burdick encouraged home owners to call in damage estimates up until 5 p.m. Monday.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost meanwhile estimated that flood damage to road and drainage facilities in unincorporated areas of the county will come to about $125,000. The outlay will mean that some road improvement projects budgeted for this spring will have to be deferred, he said.

Minor slides were reported in Sausalito.

In the Bolinas area, where 3.85 inches of rain in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. today was reported, a clogged drain was said to be washing out one lane on Mesa Road. High water temporarily closed Brighton Road in Bolinas.

Paul Pyles, San Anselmo street superintendent, said the Red Hill slide that collapsed recently built apartment houses, was still absorbing water and might produce a serious mud flow but no major slide if rain persisted.

In Fairfax, 11 families remained cut off on Upper Cypress Road by a slide.

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles reported slides from previous storms stabilized, but said, "what happens will depend on the weather over the weekend."

trees all over the county.

He said rip-rap was being placed on the north side of Lucas Valley Creek to prevent undermining of recently reconstructed Lucas Valley Road and a nearby Eichler Homes tract.

In Mill Valley, a slide continued to move onto Fairway Drive, but Public Works Supt. Ross J. Benson said he did not believe it a threat to the Frank J. Levey home.

Slides blocked the 200 block of Marion Avenue and the 300 block of Edgewood Avenue in Mill Valley for several hours yesterday, Benson said, but were cleared by city crews. Eaton Way was still closed today, he reported.

Sequoia Valley Road in Mill Valley was temporarily blocked by a fallen tree at 2:17 p.m. yesterday. A clogged drain was reported undermining a house at 183 Morningsun Avenue in Tamalpais Valley.

Minor slides were reported in Sausalito.

In the Bolinas area, where 3.85 inches of rain in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. today was reported, a clogged drain was said to be washing out one lane on Mesa Road. High water temporarily closed Brighton Road in Bolinas.

Hurt In Crash

John Raymond McManus, 65, of 24 Bretano Way, Kentfield, suffered minor injuries yesterday when his northbound car skidded at the north edge of the Waldo Tunnel, struck a rock embankment and rolled over at 12:50 a.m., California Highway Patrol reported. McManus told the patrol he would see his own doctor.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Daisy Mainwaring Dies At 83

Mrs. Daisy Mainwaring, 83, of 10 Bay Vista Court, Mill Valley, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was the widow of Edward R. Mainwaring, a printer, who died 14 years ago.

Mrs. Mainwaring, a lifelong resident of California, lived in Marin County six years.

She belonged to the Pythian Sisters, Clanthie Temple 6; the First Congregational Church in Berkeley, and was a charter member of the California Satha Nomads of Abudaka No. 5.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Grace Hotchkiss of Mill Valley, with whom she lived, and Mrs. Gertrude Lugar of El Cerrito; four grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

Memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the First Congregational Church of Berkeley at 2345 Channing Way. Inurnment will be private.

CHARLES BIANCHI

Requiem Mass for Charles Bianchi, 85, father of Mrs. Louise Schiallo of Inverness, was scheduled today at St. Vincent Church, Petaluma.

A hotel operator and a bartender, Bianchi died Tuesday in a Petaluma hospital.

Born in Switzerland, he came to the Bay Area at the age of 14 and worked on several ranches. He formerly owned and

It Was A Boy In Injury Story

Yesterday's Independent-Journal gave a boy a girl's name in a report of a school bus accident.

A 7-year-old child who suffered a cut lip when a San Rafael school bus stopped suddenly was listed as Eve E. Peugh of Bret Harte Lane, San Rafael. The child is Evan Peugh.

The bus stopped in an effort to avoid hitting Nancy Denise Thompson, 6, of 113 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, who ran into the bus and suffered an injured foot.

operated the Yosemite Hotel and later worked as a bartender.

He was a member of the Harmony Grove 38 of Druids and Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union Local 271.

He is survived by his wife, Isabelle Bianchi; a daughter, Mrs. Schiallo; and a brother, Attilio Bianchi of Windsor, Sonoma County.

MRS. CAMERON

Mrs. Leslie Cameron, 54, of 7 Oak Avenue, Kentfield, who died Wednesday, was the wife of Frank Cameron, a writer and author.

An obituary in yesterday's Independent-Journal erroneously referred to her marriage to "Leslie," when it should have read to Frank.

KATHLEEN D. DONOVAN

Funeral for Kathleen D. Donovan, wife of Earl G. Donovan of Olema, was scheduled today in Guerneville, Sonoma County.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Mrs. Donovan, 52, drowned last Saturday near her Monte Rio home when she accidentally drove her car into a flood dip in the roadway. She was on her way to work at the Knotty Room in Monte Rio, where she worked as a cook and waitress.

Born in Kansas, Mrs. Donovan had lived in California for 15 years and in Sonoma County for five years.

She is survived by her husband; a son, Gregg Alvarez of Fort Collins, Colo., and a sister.

HAZEL E. LAMB

Hazel E. Lamb, 82, of 220 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Lamb was a resident of Marin County for 31 years.

She is survived by a son, Frank Lamb of Mill Valley.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

MARY RENNIER

Mary L. Rennier of San Quentin Village died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 66.

A native of Iowa, Mrs. Rennier came to Marin County in 1943. Her husband, Clemens J. Rennier, is a retired San Quentin correctional officer.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Viola Richey of Novato, Mrs. Bernice Thompson of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Dorothy Shawver of Woodacre; two sons, Laverne Rennier of Novato and Kenneth Rennier of Petaluma; a brother Philip Bissonnette of Charles City, Iowa; a sister, Mrs. Loraine Hicks of Los Altos, and 21 grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

ETHEL LOUISE WISE

Private inurnment for Ethel Louise Wise of Tamalpais Valley was to be today at Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

Mrs. Wise, 37, died Wednesday at home.

A native of San Francisco, she resided for the last six months at 504 Wellesley Avenue. She was a telephone operator at United Telephone Answering Service, San Rafael.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth; three daughters, Pamela Dfilippis, Penelope Stretch and Gamberg; a son Jack Gamberg; a brother, William DeAvila of Tamalpais Valley, and her father, Anthony DeAvila of San Francisco.

tems, to deter a nuclear war.

McNamara's comment on Red China took careful assessment of the recent upheavals. One result "has been a temporary reduction in Chinese interest in the outside world," he said.

On the other hand, McNamara warned, "there has been no diminution in their support of the Communist efforts in Vietnam and Thailand. And, they are still active in supporting 'Chinese' factions in the Communist movement in other parts of the world, in some cases, with military materiel."

He listed other top trouble spots as Burma, the Republic of China (Taiwan), and South Asia.

The defense chief also gave a reassessment of Red China's potential nuclear threat and concluded that despite a recent successful series of tests, "there has been no basic change in our estimates."

Point Reyes Water Still Needs Boiling

Residents of Point Reyes Station must continue to boil their drinking water, warned Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, today.

Water supplied to Point Reyes Station residents, fouled by recent floods, is not yet safe to drink unboiled, according to the county health department, said Storer. The water systems in Inverness and Inverness Park have been declared safe, he reported.

WEATHER

Gary, Ind., that Mayor A. Martin Katz asked for, and got, permission to use the Indiana National Guard unit there for emergency snow removal. Up to 20 inches were on the ground and dune-like drifts piled up.

Several grocery stores in Chicago reported "runs" on the markets as people stocked up for a weekend at home. Some stores quickly ran out of whole milk, having only buttermilk or chocolate milk on the shelves.

Even the publishing of Chicago's four main daily appeared a major question. Chicago's American and the Daily News were circulating only in the Loop area. The two morning papers, the Tribune and the Sun-Times, indicated they would try to hit the newsstands.

The city's expressways were labeled "impassable." The airports, including the nation's busiest, O'Hare International, were closed.

Factories, stores and offices closed throughout the Chicago area. General Motors closed its two plants and told its 11,000 employees to stay home. Few could have gotten there anyway — transportation was limited at best to little more than foot travel, buses, cars and trucks gave up the fight by the thousands. Only the elevated trains were running.

Commuter trains were running, sporadically, a spokesman said, "when we can and where we can—no schedules." Hotels and motels were jammed. Lobbies were packed with "mostly Chicago residents who couldn't get home last night," a hotel spokesman said.

More snow, although "light" was predicted for Chicago.

Several deaths were attributed to the weather onslaught, mostly by heart attacks brought on by snow-shoveling and car-pushing.

Auto plants closed in Detroit, Lansing and Flint, giving nearly 200,000 employees a holiday.

The snow belt stretched across sections of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan.

Kansas City, Mo., had about 5,000 homes without electricity today.

enemy positions in four raids yesterday.

As they closed out Operation Cedar Falls in the triangle, U.S. forces left burned out enemy bunkers, tunnels and fortifications. During the operation, the area was hit by 1,238 air strikes by tactical bombers and 15 raids by B-52s.

Among the tunnels was a three-level complex thought to have been the headquarters for the Viet Cong's Military Region 4, reputed nerve center of operations against the Saigon area.

From Hanoi, the North Vietnamese news agency charged U.S. planes repeatedly bombed cities and towns during the past week, caused many civilian casualties and destroyed many houses. Among cities bombed, the North Vietnamese said, were Nam Dinh and Thanh Hoa.

North Vietnam also announced the Viet Cong would stick to the seven-day truce it proposed for the Lunar New Year next month even though South Vietnam has called for only a four-day cease-fire. But the Viet Cong warned the United States and its war allies they would be "severely punished" if they violated the Communist truce.

The Viet Cong truce would last from Feb. 8-15, the South Vietnamese from Feb. 8-12.

The announcement did not mention an offer made by South Vietnam Jan. 17 to meet with North Vietnam to discuss possibilities of extending the truce.

Tax End Favored

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday passed a resolution advocating elimination of the state business inventory tax.

General Removed; Criticisms Blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has removed the commandant of its top school, the Air War College, for privately discussing occasional bomb shortages in Vietnam, sources said today.

The Pentagon confirmed that Maj. Gen. Jerry D. Page, commandant of the Air War College in Alabama since last August, has been reassigned to a combat command in Okinawa.

A spokesman said Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, acted "on his own volition" and ordered the reassignment.

No reason was given for the action. The Pentagon said the matter was an "internal Air Force move."

One source, however, said Page had come under criticism for speaking of some shortages of air munitions during a three-day secret seminar for Air Force Reserve officers last December at the college.

In such sessions, all lectures and discussions by speakers are classified, not to be written down, and to be held in complete confidence.

An officer, who asked not to be named, said a "misunderstanding" arose over comments the general made at the session. He would not discuss the matter further but said other factors could be involved in the reassignment.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in the past has stated that supplies of bombs and ammunition are adequate to meet combat needs. McNamara has been quick to put down reports of any shortages.

Pentagon sources were unable to say whether authority higher than McConnell had been involved in the reassignment decision.

Powell Lawyers Cite U.S. Founding Fathers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members today mulled over the question of how James Madison or Alexander Hamilton would have handled Adam Clayton Powell.

If they come to the same conclusion as Powell's battery of eight lawyers, the Harlem Democrat could regain his House seat without having to await the outcome of a special investigation.

Yesterday his law team invoked these two framers of the constitution in letters asking each House member to "recommend the immediate swearing-in and seating of the member-elect."

The Constitution, they argued, sets but three qualifications for house membership — age, residency and citizenship.

Powell qualifies on all three, they declared.

They turned for confirmation to the words of Hamilton and Madison, two of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention in 1787.

Referring to Madison's Journal of the Convention, they noted that a constitutional provision empowering the chambers to set qualifications for membership was proposed, but rejected.

"Mr. Madison was opposed to the section as vesting an improper and dangerous power in the legislature," they quoted the Journal.

And Hamilton, they pointed out, wrote in the series of published articles that later became part of the Federalist Papers that "the qualifications of the person who may choose or be chosen...are defined and fixed by the Constitution; and are unalterable by the legislatures."

Marin Civic Leaders Join Bay Crusade Leadership

OAKLAND — The United Bay Area Crusade last night elected Shermer L. Sibley, president of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., and S. Clark Beise, chairman of the executive committee of Bank of America, to lead its five-county volunteer organization during 1967.

Sibley was named UBAC president at the first annual meeting held since the January, 1966, merger of united funds in Marin, San Francisco, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Mateo counties.

Beise was elected to serve a second term as chairman of the 400-member UBAC board of trustees.

John D. LaNoue of San Rafael, district manager for Pacific Telephone in Marin who was recently named chairman of Marin UBAC trustees, added another hat to his Crusade duties, assuming vice presidency of the five-county fund.

Newly elected treasurer of UBAC is Roy A. LeBaron of Sausalito, vice president and manager of the Oakland main office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank.

Marinites serving on the UBAC board of directors will be LaNoue; Carroll Walker, San Rafael insurance executive, and Rex T. Silvernale of San Rafael, vice president of Hutchinson Co.

Nineteen Marin men and women took office on Beise's Bay Area board of trustees. UBAC's principal governing body. An additional 16 from Marin, representing home-based Crusade agencies, are yet to be elected.

Serving on the board as Marin policy-making trustees with LaNoue, Walker and Silvernale are Harry J. Cooper Jr., Walter E. Zurcher, Alan W. Ellsberg, Dr. Russell R. Klein, Mrs. Robert Kettenback, Mrs. E. Gould Ingram, Edward W. Bullard Jr., Charles J. Francis, Harrison M. Leppo, Lawrence A. Mayer, Marion H. Marks, and Leec. Wise.

Representing Marin in trustees-at-large will be Myron M. Christy, H. J. Haynes, Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, and Judge Joseph G. Wilson of San Rafael.

$567 Cash Haul In Motel Room Pants Theft

Loss of a pair of men's pants containing $567 cash and a $50 traveler's check in a burglary of a Tamalpais Valley motel room was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Myer Schwartz, of Brooklyn, N.Y., told deputies he and his wife checked into Fountain Motel at 155 Shoreline Highway, Tuesday. Schwartz said someone apparently entered the room via an open rear door, removing the pants.

Joan Sullivan Peterson of Santa Rosa told officers burglars entered her unlocked cabin on Beach Avenue in Dillon Beach, ransacked the house, and stole a wallet containing $150 cash.

Burglars unsuccessfully attempted to pry open the front door of Giovanni of Italy, custom tailors, at Strawberry Town and Country Village, officers said. The pry marks were noticed early yesterday by a deputy on patrol.

Opinions, Not Dates For History Students

By CAROL MARSH

Can history be studied as a source of ideas relevant to the student's life, or must it be a series of names, dates and events to be memorized for their own sake?

William D. Wilkinson, a teacher of United States history at Redwood High School, is experimenting with a new method of teaching history which places the ability to think logically above the ability to memorize.

Students trace a particular thought through history. The latest specific case in Wilkinson's class was the concept of hard work as something intrinsically valuable and as a key to success.

HISTORIC THOUGHTS

The students learn what Americans, from Benjamin Franklin to Franklin D.

The students do, however, reach different conclusions. Wilkinson said one student, whose father is a high executive in a large company, concluded easily that the work value is still valid, while another student, whose family is on welfare, had quite a different view.

If student enthusiasm is a guide to the success of a teaching method, this new approach has been very successful, Wilkinson said. He reported the students respond much better to this method than to the traditional method of teaching history, "but maybe they are responding to the fact that I would rather teach this way."

Driver Suffers Minor Injuries

Rose Marie Gibson, 29, of Burlingame suffered minor injuries Tuesday when her car ran off the wet surface of Highway 101 near Novato and overturned, according to California Highway Patrol. She was examined at Novato General Hospital.

Location of the accident, near the Silveira Ranch, was almost identical with that of a crash in which a young mother was killed Monday.

DISASTER'S EDGE — Jean Harris carried groceries along the narrow path between an imperiled bulkhead and the chasm created by last Sunday's landslide that severed Upper Cypress

Drive in Fairfax. Plastic sheeting was spread yesterday by the city public works department to keep further rain from soaking the exposed earth. (Independent-Journal photos)

G-DAY — The William Winfreds commandeered their children's wagon to deliver garbage, which will be picked up if left by 10 a.m. tomorrow at the edge of the landslide near their home in Upper Cypress Drive.

Mud Slides Leave 11 Families In Fairfax Semi-Isolated

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Eleven Fairfax families are living in semi-isolation on Upper Cypress Drive, where 70 feet of road was swept away last Sunday by a landslide.

A 12th home stands poised at the brink of a 200-foot plunge, its retaining wall less than two feet from the newly created chasm. Planks laid along the narrow strip of remaining shoulder provide a slender footpath, the residents' only means of entering or leaving the hilltop cul-de-sac.

In the garages of the isolated homes stand the trapped cars, idle, irritating reminders of the suburban dweller's dependence on them.

Meanwhile, the city administration wrestles with what City Engineer Richard Nelson calls "the most perplexing problem we've ever faced."

With efforts to secure state, or federal aid snarled in red tape, Nelson plans Saturday to start trying to throw a temporary bridge across the precipitous gap.

"If all goes well," Nelson said yesterday, "we may get the job done in two and a half days, but I don't want to predict anything. We just can't be sure of what we're up against. I have the feeling more of that road is going to go."

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said he had appealed to the Sixth Army, which has portable bridges at the Presidio of San Francisco, "but they told me they couldn't let us have them unless President Johnson declared this a federal disaster area."

Neither is help from the state "as easy to get as some people think," said Sumbardo. He noted that eight engineers are coming from Sacramento Tuesday to estimate the extent of storm damage. "The governor isn't going to declare this a disaster area until he has their report," Sumbardo said.

Sumbardo said the city is also preparing an application under the State Emergency Flood Relief Law of 1959. But this, the city administrator said, will require introduction of a bill in the legislature for appropriation of funds.

In the meantime, Sumbardo said, the city will go it alone on Nelson's bridge project. "We're going to do everything we can for those people up there," he said.

For the families on Upper Cypress the bridge, even if soon swept away by further slides, means much.

Said William Winfred of 314 Cypress, "All it has to do is last long enough to let us get our cars to the other side of the break." Winfred's neighbors echoed his belief that the situation would be endurable if the cars were available to them in a big turnaround on Upper Cypress about 50 yards from the slide.

Winfred, a butcher in San Francisco, said his "goofy hours" make him dependent on a car for commuting. A friend, away in the Merchant Marine, has lent him a car for next week. This week he has taken off as part of his vacation, wrecking plans for next summer.

Their daughters, 6 and 8 years old, have missed four days of school, according to Joan Winfred, who usually drives them to their bus stop.

Similar tales of difficulty commuting and getting children to school were told by other families.

Jean Harris of 333 Upper Cypress pointed with disgust at the family car in the driveway and said, "there it sits" while her four sons, aged 10 to 16, trudged in the rain up and down the hill.

She said her husband, Welden Harris, a procurement superintendent for Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco, may have to rent a car "for the duration" and park it on the other side of the break.

To this Mrs. Harris added he keen sense of another form of isolation—the feeling of being cut off from one's friends and a normal social life. "All that," she said tartly, "is out. It's too hard to get out of here, and we can't ask friends to walk along that slippery edge in the rain, especially in the dark."

For three people, Mrs. Harris and the others had unstinting praise, their Lucas Valley Dairy milkman, known to them as Stan; their mailman, and Independent-Journal carrier boy Don Lincks, all of whom regularly negotiate the precarious footpath to make deliveries on foot to their customers.

On Saturday, their garbage will be collected, the residents have been told, if they will take the Rockwell house with it, so I of the slide by 10 a.m.

Mrs. Harris expressed concern over deliveries of oil for their furnace, made once a month and of the problem of getting a child to a doctor in the event of an emergency.

Her greatest fear was for fire protection.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton, however, said that all hydrants on Upper Cypress are functional and arrangements have been made to pack hoses across the slide, then load them in a truck belonging to Robert Krull of No. 339 for delivery to the scene, in case of a fire.

Albert C. Conta of 320 Upper Cypress, who witnessed the slide, is one of the few to have a car available, because he left the neighborhood early on Sunday to attend church.

On his way, Conta said, "I noticed the road there seemed to have dropped about two inches. That was about 5:30." On his way home at about 6:45 a.m., Conta saw cracks in the road and that it had dropped about eight inches. Alarmed, he turned around and left his car on Oak Road above Cypress.

Returning to the sinking portion on foot with his 11-year-old daughter, Karen, Conta said he heard a loud "Pop!" Then, "the whole thing started sliding. It took everything with it, road, trees, everything."

Seeing the road vanish almost to the retaining wall of the John Rockwell property, Conta said, "I thought it was going to take the Rockwell house with it, so I ran up there and woke them to get them out."

Yesterday, Mrs. Rockwell looked from her livingroom sun-deck and pointed to the ugly scar extending 200 feet below and said, "All that area was covered with trees and vegetation." Nothing green showed in the muddy, rubble-strewn chasm.

The Rockwells and their 12-year-old son, Steve, sleep in sleeping bags in a studio cabin on their property. "I don't mind it in the house in the daytime," Mrs. Rockwell said, "but we might not hear any warning if we were asleep."

She spoke calmly of the danger to the house where she and her husband, a San Rafael attorney, have lived for 21 years: "We hired a soil engineer. He told us that if we don't have a lot more rain, he thinks it will stand."

Outside the recently remodeled and handsomely furnished house fell a steady rain, advance fringe of a storm predicted at least into the weekend.

EARTH SLIDE THREATENS GREENBRAE HOME

RESERVISTS GIVE BLOOD FOR VIETNAM

Twenty-three of the 35 members of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 362nd Regiment, Army Reserve, each gave a pint of blood last evening at the Marin Blood Center on Fourth Street, San Rafael, with half the donation earmarked for wounded servicemen in Vietnam.

Larkspur Board Votes Team Teaching In Lower Grades

The Larkspur School District Board last night approved team teaching for sixth grades starting in the spring semester and for third, fourth and fifth grades starting next fall.

The district has used team teaching for seventh and eighth grades for two years.

Trustee candidates will not have statements published on the sample ballot, the board decided, declaring that the requirement that a candidate pay for statements on the ballot is unjust and favors rich candidates.

The board voted to have five polling places for the April 18 trustee election, with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Terms of Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone and Curtis P. Kamai expire. Both have filed for reelection.

The board endorsed a resolution of the American Assn. of Schools Administrators opposing the U.S. Office of Education's National Education Assessment program.

A federal grant of $2,200, just received, will be used to purchase books and audio-visual materials for district libraries, the board decided.

Home Is Looted

Theft of a five-inch television set, camera and half gallon of Scotch Whisky worth $195 was reported yesterday to Mill Valley police by Aline M. Lane, 443 Molino Avenue. They were stolen during the day while her house was unoccupied, Mrs. Lane said.

Production of farm products increases about 7 per cent each year, according to the Department of Agriculture.

U.C. Regents Favor Prof, Student Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two University of California Regents — Max Rafferty and Frederick G. Dutton — suggested last night that students and faculty be represented on the Board of Regents.

Dutton, a Sausalito attorney, said there should be faculty representation on the board because of the "lack of understanding" between regents and faculty members.

Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction, said the student body should also be represented. "I'd like to see student body presidents, possibly on an alternating basis, be voting members of the Board of Regents," he said.

The two regents appeared with Dr. Arthur Kipp, physics professor and chairman of the UC Berkeley Academic Senate, and Thomas Sorenson, UC vice president in charge of public relations, on a television panel program on KQED.

Kipp agreed that both faculty and students should be represented on the Board of Regents.

Dutton also defended students on the Berkeley campus and argued against tuition.

Layoffs Prompted By Blaze To Hall

COLUMBUS, Ind. (UPI)—A furniture maker yesterday announced an indefinite series of one day a week layoffs because of the fire which destroyed Chicago's McCormick Place exhibition hall.

Hamilton Cosco Inc. said the fire, occurring on the day a national housewares show was to open, resulted in a reduction in business volume normally growing from its display at the annual show.

to cash it.

The $500,000 certificate disappeared from a vault. General Auditor Joseph Watson doubted it was stolen. He thought it got mixed up with other certificates and very possibly was mailed to a customer.

Watson said the bank would certainly appreciate its return if a customer received it in the mail.

Victim Cannot Recall Shooting; Charge Out

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon against John W. Frederick was dismissed in Marin Municipal Court today after victim Matt Cernac testified from his hospital bed that he did not know who shot him.

Cernac, 43, shot through the right eye and suffering brain damage, declared during the unusual preliminary hearing that he might even have shot himself, that he might have "subconsciously" wanted medical treatment.

The hearing was held in Cernac's room in Marin General Hospital by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. with only the accused and physicians and attorneys attending.

Cernac, who is in the hospital's intensive care unit, was transferred to an adjacent room for the hearing.

Asked if he recognized Frederick, Cernac replied that he did. But he said he recalled nothing of the Jan. 13 shooting in his apartment at 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

He said Frederick was there, but he did not recall who took the .22 caliber pistol from a drawer, or who fired it.

Investigators said both Cernac and Frederick, a title examiner with Marin Title Guarantee Co., San Rafael, were intoxicated at time of the shooting.

Following the 45-minute hospital session the hearing was adjourned to Judge Goldstein's courtroom where Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales moved for dismissal of the complaint on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Judge Goldstein dismissed the complaint and exonerated Frederick's $2,500 bail.

San Rafael police said they first learned of the shooting by telephone call.

On arrival at Cernac's apartment, they said, they were led by Frederick — wearing a blood-stained shirt — to where Cernac lay.

Frederick, 36, of 50 Sullivan Lane, Novato, steadfastly refused to talk to investigating officers about the case. His attorney William O. Weissich, said Frederick was too drunk to remember what occurred.

Concrete Wall Auto Collision

Susan Hughes Citron, 25, of 24 Maple Avenue, Kentfield, was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with facial cuts and concussion after the car in which she was a passenger skidded off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and hit a concrete wall.

The car, driven by William Albert Gikerson, 30, of Pier 3, Sausalito Yacht Harbor, a San Francisco Chronicle feature writer, went off the rain-soaked road east of Broadway in Kentfield and hit the concrete block wall at the home of David Bettiga, 820 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 2:50 a.m. today, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Gikerson was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Al, Joe Louie In San Rafael; Gregory's Third Anniversary

Yesterday the new restaurant operation of Al and Joe Louie opened at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael — under the new name of Quan Lin of Marin.

This name will cover the entire premises, where the Louies have teamed up with Joe Scotto, who had the Four Star Buffet. The place has been completely remodeled. Dining room is nicely decorated and separated from the bar area by a full partition to cut down noise.

Quan Lin will be open seven days a week and, as the name indicates, serving Chinese food. Also American. Lunches will be served Mondays through Saturdays from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and dinners from 5 to 10 p.m. Sunday dinners will be from 4 to 10. The bar is open through the week from 10 a.m. to 1 or 2 a.m. and on Sundays from 2 p.m.

The Louies will offer a $1.35 merchants' lunch with about six American and Chinese entrees rotated daily. Also sandwiches. Complete Chinese dinners, family style, are set up in the usual manner. There are four of them ranging from $2.50 (for one person) or $4.50 for two to $6.50 for two. And quite a selection of the popular Chinese a la carte dishes. Complete American dinners range from $2.95 to $4.75 with choices including several steaks, prime rib, chicken, prawns, abalone, frog legs, lobster tails, and lobster steak. And Al Louie promises to have a daily special on the dinner. Could be Chinese or American—he didn't say.

A children's menu is priced from $1.50 to $2.25.

Besides Marge Losinger, I note that both Joanne Trout and Hazel Burr, both formerly with the Louies at Black Point and also at the 751 Club before that, are serving. All this, of course, makes it a natural for downtowners and old friends to come in and investigate. Once they do, I'm sure they'll return.

CELEBRATING A THIRD anniversary on Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, Gregory's will offer a complimentary champagne cocktail with dinners to night and tomorrow night.

Greg and Mary Alyce Seubert have strutting Bavarian accordionist Walter Jeltsch to provide the right atmosphere.

He performs both in the lounge and in the dining room.

ANOTHER ANNIVERSARY is being celebrated tonight and tomorrow night out in Lagunitas, where Matts and Phyllis Mattson are observing completion of their second year with the Old Viking. Regular menu is in force, with all the Scandinavian offerings. But also for these two nights there's a special on at $3.75 for the roast prime ribs of beef dinner.

SPEAKING OF THESE celebrations, before I forget this, I'd like to record that Kitty and Tony Tarantino of Tarantino's Seafood Grotto in Bolinas will observe their 50th wedding anniversary next month. And they have another occasion coming up soon—30 years in business at the restaurant, which is still open daily from noon to about 8 p.m. Exception—poor weather, they close earlier. Wouldn't you?

A BABY in the restaurant field is Jean's Kitchen on Poplar Avenue, Ross. It has been open less than three weeks.

But owner Jean Dobson is observing her grand opening festivities today and tomorrow with hamburger and coffee on the house to all comers. Only one condition—youngsters must be accompanied by their parents.

NEW SCHEDULE at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera: Dining room opens from 5 to 10 p.m.; Sundays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Coffee shop is open from 6 a.m. to midnight; Friday and Saturday nights to 3 a.m. Gun Room and bar open from noon to midnight throughout the week except Fridays and Saturdays.

when the time is 1 p.m. to 1 a.m.

New dinner menu includes many former favorites but adds chicken cacciatore with lasagne, breast of turkey Romanoff, veal scallopini a la Marsala and a few others. Plenty of room for banquets here. Contact manager Ole Madsen with your problem.

THE COVE PLAYERS took over the Destination South Pacific Room at Tiburon Tommie's last Friday and Saturday nights and they will continue with their latest presentation, "Seven Year Itch," through Feb. 10 and 11.

But heretofore curtain time has been at 8:30 p.m. and then usually held over to allow straggling diners to cram down the last morsel before coming in to look for a seat. Now performer and restaurateur Sandy Keppel tells me that the curtain is officially delayed until 9 p.m. to allow all of Tiburon's diners to feed their patrons and the latter to escape indigestion pains from swallowing food whole.

FOR LOVERS of good food and good wine—and particularly those who would like to know more about their relationship—a new course is being offered during College of Marin's spring semester called "The History and Appreciation of Wine."

Instructor is Fred Cherry of San Anselmo, who serves each year as an official wine judge at the Sacramento State Fair.

Marin Dining And Wining

8 Independent-Journal, Friday, Jan. 27, 1967

He is director of the North Bay Wine and Food Society, a writer on both food and wines—and so should be able to add considerably to your fund of knowledge.

He will present discussions, special films, demonstrations and guest speakers, and he anticipates that the class will organize its own tastings, winery trips or trips to selected Marin restaurants. And if you have been bugged by the question: Which are better—California or imported wines?—you may be able to resolve that, too. He'll take up wines from all over the world, but special emphasis will be placed on our own wines.

Registration is just before the first class on Thursday, Feb. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the College of Marin Science Building. Get there early, as enrollment is limited. Classes last until 10. Course lasts 10 weeks.

FOOD SERVICE at Rancho Rafael in Ignacio has been suspended for the time being pending new arrangements. But the bar is open evenings from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. Owner Max Key hopes to have a new dining room schedule soon.

OTHER CLOSINGS AND CHANGES. Marshall Tavern in Marshall is closed for the winter season. No information on when it will reopen. . . . At Stinson Beach, Farallon East is closed—both in food service and bar. Seasonal liquor license becomes active again April 1—but I can not confirm a reopening of either department at that time. . . . Both the Champagne Hut and the Office in Mill Valley have discontinued meals service. . . . The restaurant operation at Neville's on the Boardwalk in Tiburon has been shut down. Belvedere Catering does continue here in the rear and uses the same telephone number as Neville's.

I AM TOLD NOW that the Pepperwood Restaurant of Gene Compton Corp. will probably not open at the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, until about May.

ping Center, San Anselmo, until about May.

SAN ANSELMO'S ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT said yesterday that Pandora on Spaulding Avenue had been allowed to reopen and has been doing business throughout the week. Slides on Red Hill a week ago partially blocked one end of the street, but that has been cleared and the restaurant is accessible from either end.

Dog On Highway Snarls Traffic, Injures Three

Two drivers and a passenger were injured Tuesday in a three-car traffic-jam when a Labrador dog crossed Highway 101 near the Marinwood interchange.

A car driven by William R. Archibald, 32, of 11 Van Ripper Court, Sleepy Hollow, was hit in the rear by one driven by Elaine K. Rogers, 42, of 14 Grove Street, San Rafael. Then a car driven by Elizabeth Scott Whelan, 24, of San Francisco, hit the rear of the Rogers car, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Archibald was treated at Novato General Hospital for a face cut, as was Katherin Jones, 25, of San Francisco, a passenger in the Whelan car.

Merchants Against Any Center Move

Novato merchants are opposed to moving the city's civic center from its present location.

More than 30 of them attending a Downtown Merchants Improvement Assn. meeting Wednesday voted unanimously to oppose any proposal of the city council to purchase property elsewhere for the center.

The association voted to hire the law firm of Robert B. McCreedy and Larry L. Heon to represent it in opposing any such move.

The merchants also voted to oppose some restrictions in the proposed sign ordinance, and named Ben Edwards chairman of a committee to make a further study of the ordinance. This committee will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the Tiburon National Bank in the Nave Shopping Center.

The merchants asked the city council to postpone from Feb. 13 to 27 consideration of the proposed sign ordinance.

They oppose the limit of 100 square feet of signs on one building, and allowing corner stores to have signs on both sides.

Heon was named chairman of a committee to draw up by-laws for the organization.

Most Auto Expenses May Be Deductible

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Automobile expenses are deductible. Here are the rules:

If you are in business and your auto is used exclusively for business purposes, the cost of its operation is deductible on Schedule C, Form 1040.

If you are an employee and use your car exclusively in your work, you can deduct the total cost of its operation, such as gasoline, oil, repairs, garage rent, insurance, depreciation, interest, taxes, licenses, etc.

Wikel

If you use your car for both personal and business travel, you must divide your expenses. Suppose you are a salesman and drive your car 20,000 miles during the year, 8,- 000 miles for business and 12,000 miles for personal. Only 8,000/20,000 or 40 per cent of the total cost may be claimed as a business or employment expense.

Under Revenue Procedure 64-10, you can just keep a record of the business use of your car. You can deduct 10 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 7 cents per mile for miles over 15,000 in each year.

The miles must be for business use and you must have a record of them.

Also under Revenue Procedure 64-15, you can deduct 5 cents per mile for the use of your car to secure medical care, or for charitable contributions, where automobile expense qualifies as deductible as a medical expense or as a charitable contribution.

These standard mileage rates are in lieu of all other automobile costs or expense in connection with business use, or medical expense use, or a charitable use of the car.

You can, however, also deduct parking fees, bridge tolls, etc. Use Form 2106 for these auto expense deductions.

Some auto expenses are deductible if you itemize on page 2, Form 1040, even though your automobile is entirely used for personal purposes.

These expenses include gasoline taxes — in California 7 cents per gallon — state and local sales taxes; interest on auto loans; casualty and theft losses over $100; and California license fees in excess of $9 ($10 if a station wagon).

Caution: If you have used your car for business and personal travel, and if you itemize your deductions, be sure that you list on page 2 of your return only the interest, taxes, etc., which were not claimed as traveling or transportation expense anywhere else on your return. An expense can be deducted only once.

Car Pools — expenses of an automobile used in a car pool to and from work is a personal expense and not deductible. Amounts received from passengers are not included in income unless they exceed the expenses.

Fines for violation of traffic or other laws and regulations are not deductible.

Juvenile Hall Chaplaincy Funds Sought

In an effort to provide a full-time chaplain for Marin County's juvenile hall, the Juvenile Court Auxiliary has begun a fund-raising drive to raise $6,000.

Presently Rev. David Glauner works part-time at Juvenile Hall for $3,240 a year, supported by the Marin County Council of Churches.

The council now faces increased commitments and decreased income, said Mrs. William McCammon, auxiliary president, "but at the same time there is a need to enlarge the chaplaincy program at Juvenile Hall to a full-time program."

Rev. Glauner "has provided an invaluable service by working with the unreachable children to the extent that they often return to him for spiritual guidance even after they have left Juvenile Hall," said Mrs. McCammon.

The auxiliary is attempting to raise $6,000 to augment the Council of Churches' support, she said, by appealing for tax-deductible donations.

Hanley Re-Elected Writers' Secretary

Jack Hanley, syndicated columnist and author of the Pressbox Views column in the Independent-Journal, has been re-elected secretary-treasurer of the San Francisco chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Jack Stevenson, veteran San Francisco sports editor for the Associated Press, was elected chairman.

Cushing Spars With Jesuits Over Story

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, accuses the Jesuit order of spreading "colossal lies" about North American motives for aiding Catholic missions in Latin America.

He cited Jesuit charges that American bishops have forced funds into Latin-American mission work and attempted to superimpose U.S. culture on Latin America.

Cardinal Cushing's comments yesterday were directed at "the seamy side of charity," an article in a recent issue of America, a magazine published by the Jesuit order.

The article was designed to "pull the rug" out from under the fourth annual conference of the Catholic Inter-American cooperation program now meeting in Boston, Cushing said.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Ivan Illich, author of the article and director of the Center of Inter-Cultural Documentation in Cuernavaca, Mexico, also suggested that North Americans should declare a "moratorium of three years" on missions aid to Latin America and let the course of history take over. "Men and money from the United States," he wrote, "have built structures and systems in Latin America that can never be self-supporting."

Cardinal Cushing's remarks were made as he read an official reply to the article by Archbishop Eduardo Vagnossi, Pope Paul VI's apostolic delegate to the United States.

The letter said North American Catholics are helping missions in Latin America because the late Pope John XXIII asked a meeting of the bishops of Canada and the United States to answer a request from Latin-American bishops for aid.

The Rev. Thurston N. Davis, S.J., editor-in-chief of America, said when contacted in New York that he would have no immediate comment.

Grant Pays Off Audubon Ranch

A $40,000 grant from the Max H. Lewis trust of Los Angeles last week was used to make final payment on Audubon Canyon Ranch's 569-acre holding adjacent to Bolinas Lagoon.

Announcing the grant today, Dr. Martin Griffin of Kentfield, chairman of the ranch's board of directors, said the grant completed payments totaling $366,000 since 1961 for the ranch.

The grant was to the Golden Gate Audubon Society, which owns and operates the ranch with the Marin Audubon Society.

Monsanto Earning Up, But Net Income Falls

MONSANTO CHEMICAL CO. preliminary results for 1966 indicate annual sales exceeding $1.6 billion for the first time and 10 per cent over 1965 — but unaudited net income of $112.8 million was 9 per cent lower than year-earlier profits. Indicated 1966 earnings were $3.48 per share, compared with $3.51 for 1965 after adjustment for stock dividend paid in 1966. Chairman Edward O'Neal said low selling prices were responsible for the drop in profits.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. has announced that all discussions to merge with Biegel-Sanford, Inc. have been terminated without an agreement.

AUTOMATIC SPRINKLER CORP. OF AMERICA, Cleveland has announced its fourth acquisition in the past month — General Fittings Co., Rhode Island manufacturer of fluid control systems. Other firms acquired were Scott Industries, Inc., Smith-Essick, Inc. and Electronic Security, Inc. Automatic Sprinkler is a major growth company in the fire protection, fluid control, instrumentation and labor-saving equipment industries.

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO. directors increased the quarterly dividend to 50 cents per share of common stock — up from 47.5 cents per share. The latest dividend, payable April 10, marks the ninth successive year of annual dividend increases. Net sales of $719.6 million and net earnings of $40.8 million for 1966 were up 6.5 and 6.3 per cent respectively from 1965 levels. Earnings per share for 1966 were $2.99, compared with $2.80 for 1965.

APPLIED TECHNOLOGY, INC., Palo Alto, earnings for the six months ended Dec. 31 were $919,222 — an increase of 600 per cent over earnings for the same period a year ago. The company's backlog reached an all-time high of $26 million last month, up more than 200 per cent from a year ago. The company develops and manufactures electronic reconnaissance and related systems.

WESTFAB MANUFACTURING CO., newest subsidiary of Consolidated Freightways, Inc., launched production this week at its new plant in Fremont. The company produces multiple leaf springs for heavy-duty trucks and trailers.

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT has opened a new trade office at 111 Pine Street, San Francisco to promote trade between Canada and the territory served by the Canadian Consulate General in San Francisco — California (except the 10 southern counties), Colorado, Hawaii, Nevada (except Clark County), Utah and Wyoming.

Banks Reluctantly Reduce Interest

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three giant New York banks reluctantly followed the lead of the Chase Manhattan bank in reducing their prime interest rates today, a move praised by the White House but viewed with skepticism in some financial circles.

The First National City Bank, Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. and Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. did not go as far as Chase however. They cut their prime interest rates from 6 per cent to 5.75 per cent.

Chase Manhattan, the nation's second largest commercial bank, announced yesterday it would charge 5.5 per cent interest instead of 6 per cent to its prime customers—corporations with the highest credit ratings. The prime rate rose to 6 per cent from 5.75 last year when the Federal Reserve Board raised the interest rate on money it lends to banks.

The White House statement said President Johnson was pleased that "his programs and the policies of the Federal Reserve System have created the financial environment which has made possible this action."

But the reaction of New York's financial giants was

"what financial environment?" They pointed out that demands for loans are still high despite the high interest rate. This being the case, if Chase Manhattan does not get support quickly from other institutions it soon will have more loan applications than it can fill and have to raise its rate back to 6 per cent.

The prime rate is generally the touchstone for other types of credit, such as mortgages for homes. Most experts feel the interest rate for mortgages should begin to drop soon.

Television Set Lifted At Store

Shoplifters lifted a television set worth $125 from KLEIN'S Television Store, 915 Loutens Place, San Rafael, police reported yesterday but failed to take along a cord and plug essential for its operation.

Store operator Reginald J. Tracy told police he believed one man kept him busy adjusting a stereo set while two accomplices took the television set.

$7,000 Damage In House Fire

Fire which started in a box of ashes caused $7,000 damage to the home of Dr. John Raison at 4 Luzane Circle, San Anselmo, yesterday, according to San Anselmo fire department.

Two passersby noticed smoke coming from the Raisons' garage at 11:34 a.m., and notified Mrs. Raison.

The fire, which apparently started in a cardboard box filled with ashes from the fireplace, had spread from the box to the walls of the back porch, from there to the attached garage and into the attic and roof of the house, firemen said. Damage was estimated at $7,000.

Novatan Hurt In Car Crash

A Novato man was hospitalized after a two-car accident at First Street and Vallejo Avenue, Novato, about 11:15 a. m. yesterday.

Phillip Joseph Bruccoleri, 22, of 1116 Third Street, was in good condition today at Novato Hospital with chest injuries. He was westbound on Vallejo Avenue when his car collided with one driving north on First Street by Robert Dennis Young, 79, of 688 Wilson Avenue, according to police. Young was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Peking Charges Barbarism In Russ Student Treatment

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China today accused Russia of Hitler-like barbarism against Chinese students in Moscow and warned the Kremlin it had incurred a "blood debt" which must be repaid.

China watchers here said the formal statement by the Peking foreign ministry regarding Wednesday's Red Square brawl between Chinese students and Soviet police was the most sharply worded protest China has ever made to Moscow.

China experts viewed the coarse composition of the protest, a Peking effort to divert attention from China's current inner turmoil and unite its more than 700 million people against an outside "enemy."

Japanese correspondents reported from Peking that thousands of slogan-shouting Red Guards marched on the Soviet Embassy last night to demonstrate against the incident.

Most of the 69 students involved in the Wednesday scuffle left by train yesterday for the Chinese capital.

Many wore small gauze patches on chins and cheeks and were smeared with iodine. Few observers were convinced. Close inspections of the iodine smears indicated the skin beneath was unmarked.

The Chinese claimed 31 of the 69 students were injured with four in serious condition and one near death.

Flood Control First; Then Comes Esthetics

Interest in flood control is difficult to generate during the dry months and even during the rainy season in years of relatively light rainfall.

With so-called "50-year floods" coming at 10-year intervals, and particularly in view of last weekend's disastrous reminder of what rain and tide can do to Marin, many will now say that removal of the flood threat should take precedence over preservation of esthetics.

In between the disasters, residents of conservation-conscious Marin continue to throw roadblocks in front of almost every Army Engineer proposal that hints of any tree removal to make room for concrete ditches.

Many of the flood control proposals are scuttled or postponed almost indefinitely by those who give esthetics top priority and relegate the removal of flood waters to a secondary role.

For years, the Kentfield-Ross area along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard has been flooded in minor storms and completely submerged in major floods. Efforts by the county, state and federal officials to bring relief have been stymied by opposition from cities and from individuals who shed tears over the "scenic assets" and "natural beauties" of Corte Madera Creek.

The latest inundation throughout the county and particularly along scenic Corte Madera Creek dramatizes the incongruity of talking esthetics when mud and water come in torrents through the front door and out the back, taking rugs and furniture with them.

A major step in Corte Madera flood control was taken this time last year when the Marin County Board of Supervisors voted a go-ahead on the project.

But quibbling has continued in the upstream areas of Corte Madera Creek. And the Army Engineers are understandably reluctant to go ahead with the project unless agreement is reached upstream so that the flood control project can be undertaken as an integrated whole.

On Feb. 9, the Ross Town Council has set another meeting to discuss flood control. The previous meeting on the same subject was met with a minimum of rancor. We hope the February meeting will bring approval of the flood control project, even if it means some concrete lining of the creek through Ross.

As we have editorialized periodically in the past, we once again hope that the people will act in the interest of those most in need of help—the flood victims—even if some of the creek's esthetics may have to be sacrificed.

The Ocean's Personality

Oceans are pretty much the same the world over. All beat to the rhythm of waves and the same ebb and flow of the tides. In Marin, many of us are aware of a second, delayed tide on the Bay, reaching San Rafael a considerable time after the Pacific hits our western coast and pours through the Golden Gate.

Oceans are said to have split personalities. They are both fearsome and gentle. At high tide the ocean is like a powerful giant, beating on the rocks and sand, a primeval force.

At low tide, as it withdraws from its assault, it becomes a gentle, loving mother to the teeming life of the pools, beaches and rocks of the inter-tidal zone—the exciting "world-in-itself" between the tides.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

GOP's 'Operation New Blood' Emphasizes Action And Youth

By WAT TAKESHITA

REPUBLICANS CONTINUE to outgain Democrats in voter registration state-wide, according to figures compiled by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

But Marin Republicans aren't resting on the laurels. Chuck Michals, who took over this year as chairman of the Marin Republican Central Committee, is launching what he calls ONB, Operation New Blood, aimed at luring younger and active workers into the party.

ONE OF HIS ideas is a program "to take the Party to the people." He's doing so by alternating the meeting places for the monthly central committee meetings. Instead of always meeting in the San Rafael courthouse, Michals hopes last November's Republican sweep, and the GOP's Operation New Blood, the Democrats will have to do some scrambling to keep up with the Republicans.

JOE SHELL's joining the Holiday Magic firm of William Penn Patrick in San Rafael is causing considerable eyebrow-raising.

Since Shell has been well established in Southern California oil business, it's not likely that financial gain is luring Shell into the cosmetics field. Speculation is that politically-ambitious Patrick is bringing the political know-how of veteran Joe Shell into his camp for another try at a state-wide office in 1968.

Shell is a former Assemblyman who ran against Nixon for Governor in 1962. At that time, San Rafael attorney William O. Weissich was Marin campaign manager for Joe Shell, but Weissich is not involved in the latest Patrick-Shell hookup.

U.S. SENATOR George Murphy's San Francisco office is now officially opened for business.

It's located in room 16408 of the new federal building at 450 Golden Gate Avenue. And it's managed by Miss Patricia Sue Hennessy of Fairfax.

DESPITE THE economy move in Sacramento and proposed budget cuts for University of California, Marin legislators see no reason why a U.C. campus somewhere in the North Bay should be scuttled. As far as we know, a North Bay campus is still a distinct possibility.

In fact, delegations from other counties like Napa have been converging on the state Capitol with proposals to lure the campus to their county.

Sonoma, Napa and Marin are interested in such a campus. But from the standpoint of land availability, Marin seems to be under a handicap.

"Well now . . . We have another decade to argue about flood control."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Stand Against Aby Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I couldn't believe, of all people, that 16 Marin clergymen would take the stand against Dr. Aby about his statement that "this is a Christian country and others are here by sufferance."

As tolerance and sufferance are synonyms, I will use them interchangeably.

If my history book was correct, the Pilgrims came to this country because of the intolerance of their Christian religion. Having this understanding of persecution they had sufferance for other oppressed people of all religions who wanted freedom to worship as they wished, so the gates to this great country were always open.

Everyone should feel a great pride in this country that they can call a person friend for what the person embodies, not for their religious beliefs.

If you really want to know the meaning of tolerance go up to Dr. Aby's door, ring the bell, hold out your hand and say you need help. You won't be asked about your race, color, or religion. You will just be asked how you can be helped.

Was it not Jesus who said "Suffer all the little children to come unto me." If we have tolerance for others, can we do more?

School Funds For Flood Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In view of the recent damage caused in Marin County due to the last rainstorm, one would assume that the area could use some flood control measures. Of course, such action will cost money. But instead of increasing the taxes on an already over-taxed population, why not find the needed funds by cutting back in an area where money is being collected and spent foolishly, such as the thousands of dollars that are being poured each year into the non-essential "fringe benefits" of our school system.

I have often wondered what the reaction would be of the responsible citizens of the county if a list was ever published showing exactly where our tax dollars actually go when they go "for school purposes."

Rid Ourselves Of Pad Dwellers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The audacity of these long-haired, bearded pad dwellers, who come out of their vermin infested holes, have only one thing in mind. This is to spew their venom, to pollute the minds of our innocent youth.

The more these mealy-mouthed characters expose themselves to public view on television — just give them enough rope they will hang themselves.

These rabid vilifiers of the truth have nothing to offer as far as moral aspects are concerned. To the contrary, they advocate vices to wreck the moral fiber of our society. Indeed these flabby creatures do not toil but spin fantastic drug-soaked philosophy, the direct opposite to principles of law and order or our American Democracy.

To their symbol, "The Yellow Submarine," it will surely sink with its motley crew aboard, like a ruptured sardine can. Down deep it will go, drowned in a cesspool, spawned of their own making.

Let's not forget, there are laws on the books, to eradicate this festering cancer, that threatens the health, and welfare of our society. We must urge, they be enforced.

The Eye Bank; How It Works

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Jan. 19, an article was printed concerning restoration of vision for two people after the accidental traffic death of a 16-year-old boy.

As co-chairmen of the San Rafael Lion's Sight Conservation and Work for the Blind Committee, your readers might be interested to know that potential eye donor's literature and the necessary forms for making arrangements to leave eyes for use in transplants are available. If those interested in such a worthy cause would call George Oliva of Physicians Optical Co. or Howard A. Levenson, O.D., the forms will be mailed to you.

The Lion's Eye Bank at Presbyterian Hospital and the U.S. Medical Hospital Eye Bank have a waiting list of recipients of corneal eye transplants. Sight is a very precious thing, and those who receive these transplants are forever grateful.

Handicapped Hiring Editorial Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I want to personally thank you for your recent editorial (Jan. 23) in regard to hiring the handicapped.

To those of us engaged daily in the counseling and training of handicapped persons, it is heartening to see recognition that the horizons of employment are widening. We have steadfastly felt that the well-trained disabled person, who is carefully selected for a specific job, is an asset to the employer, to society, and to himself.

Emotional illness, mental retardation, and physical disability can be overcome; this is certainly an area where government and industry cooperation is proving more successful with each passing year.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Demos, GOP Both Gird Loins To Battle Against Bureaucracy

WASHINGTON — The initiative which Democratic and Republican Senators are taking to deal with the harsh problems of urban life—from air pollution to human blight—points up three significant trends:

That this is not likely to be a do-nothing Congress.

That leaders in both parties believe the U.S. can and must fight the two wars simultaneously—the war against aggression in Vietnam and the war against poverty at home.

THAT THERE IS a near-revolution in thinking in the new Congress over how the Federal government can best provide aid to state and local governments: There is a burgeoning conviction that the big bureaucracy in Washington doesn't necessarily know best and that minute, overlapping, initiative-stifling Federal controls must be radically reduced.

Democratic Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut has wide support in his party for his new approach to provide better job-training and lower-cost housing in the big cities as the essential means of improving the ghettos.

Republican Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois has the support of some 25 GOP Senators for his imaginative National Home Ownership Foundation to pool private and public funds to get low-cost housing.

The Ribicoff and Percy plans have much in common, but the point I am making is that the conservative Republicans backing the Percy program and the moderate Democrats backing the Ribicoff approach are united in the view that the U.S. has the resources both to fight the war in Vietnam and to move substantially forward on the most pressing home-front problems.

THEY ARE SAYING it can be done. I think they're right. As a people we can be proud that during the past two years one great myth has been disposed of. That myth was that the American voters would support major economic and social reform only during a period of sustained depression—like the early years of the New Deal.

Not true. The beginnings of social reform far more difficult and far-reaching than those of the New Deal were made in 1964 and 1965 at a time when the great majority of Americans was experiencing unparalleled prosperity—with the highest wages and lowest rate of unemployment.

GREAT POVERTY in the midst of great affluence did arouse the conscience of the nation and it is my judgment that there was little in the November election to cause Congress to feel that the country wants to step back from what needs to be done.

The problems of the ghettos, of crime in the streets, of inadequate education are with us, and must be dealt with.

To help the poor to help themselves will help everybody.

Better job-training and low-cost housing are ways to reduce racial tensions.

I am not saying that the newly elected Congress is no different from its reformist predecessor. While supporting the goals of the war on poverty, it is showing itself profoundly skeptical of the idea that the Federal government has all the answers and should lay down all the rules.

THIS IS WHY there is very nearly a Congress-wide uprising against the stifling maze of bureaucracy managing the 170 different grant-in-aid programs.

This in part is why Republicans and Democrats are advocating Federal revenue-sharing without strings to state and local governments.

And Congress now has this candid verdict of one of the ablest administrators in Washington, Health Education and Welfare Secretary John Gardner: "Our aspirations have outrun our organizational abilities . . . If we are going to get the job done, the money should be used to find better ways of doing it."

Lady Bird Is Boss For Beautification

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — When it comes to the Johnson administration's highway and city beautification program, the First Lady and not the President has the final say.

Republican leaders were told that by the President when they urged him during a White House meeting to eliminate a $100 million beautification item in the new budget.

"I CAN'T cut that out," replied the President. "That's Lady Bird's project. She has the final say on that one. If you want to reduce that expenditure, you will have to talk to her."

"Since the amount is double what you requested last year," shot back Ford, "will you tell her for us that we plan to cut it in half."

"If you do that," warned the President, "she will be up on Capitol Hill lobbying for her program."

With that, the President steered the discussion to another subject.

VIETNAM FLASHES: A long-smoldering dispute between the six stevedoring firms unloading military supplies in Saigon harbor and the U.S. Army threatens to erupt into another strike. In cables to the Defense Department, General Westmoreland has asked permission to use U.S. troops to unload the ships if the stevedoring firms refuse to do so. The stevedore's contract with the Army runs out on Jan. 31.

Air Force medical experts say a study indicates smoking is a major health hazard for supersonic aircraft and space crews. According to the medical study, the study reveals that nicotine seriously impairs the cardio-pulmonary system at supersonic speeds.

John F. Kennedy Jr., 6-year-old son of the late President, is the fashion model of his set. His previously long haircut is now longer and includes side-burns.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., who replaced Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., as chairman of the Labor and Education Committee, had the best attendance in the last (89th) Congress. He was present for every vote, and on virtually all major issues, including open housing, went down the line for the administration.

Rep. Howard Pollack, freshman Republican from Alaska, is the third arm amputee in Congress. He lost a hand in the Navy in World War II. Notwithstanding this disability, Pollack is a big-game hunter, with a polar bear, a grizzly and a caribou to his record. The other two arm amputees are Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, who was a much-decorated member of the famed 100th Infantry Battalion, and lost his arm in bitter fighting in Italy; and Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., a bomber pilot who lost an arm in a crash.

SEN. FRED HARRIS, D-Okla., has the inside track for chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee. Backstage he is being supported by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic Whip Russell Long of Louisiana, and by the White House — as a compromise to head off Sens. Robert Kennedy of New York or Vance Hartke of Indiana. Hartke headed the committee several years ago and has strong backing for another term.

Gov. George Romney will go to Vietnam for a first-hand study of the war there. The GOP aspirant for the 1968 presidential nomination will make the trip to determine his stand on the Vietnam issue.

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE is cranking up for another grandstanding trip—this time to Rome in late March to participate in the ceremonies on the 10th anniversary of the creation of the European Economic Community, generally known as the Common Market.

Third Mill Valley Civic Report Almost Free Of Prideful Errors

Mill Valley taxpayers got another $300 bill this week from City Hall for the third edition of the quarterly "City Hall Report to the People of Mill Valley."

City fathers bellowed horribly when this reporter detected some self-serving propaganda in the last edition, so it was with some fear that I began reading the latest report. With those bellows still ringing in my ears, I hoped to find this edition free of such blemishes.

WHAT I FOUND this time was only a slight case of acne.

To wit, its declaration that "Mill Valley is particularly fortunate in the quality of the people who hold elective and appointive positions in city government" may or may not be true, but taxpayers generally disagree with politicians' estimates of themselves. The report, at least, costs taxpayers less than a public relations consultant.

"The first major accomplishment" of the city council-created art committee, the report states, "has been the development, under its aegis, of the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts." If this is a "major" accomplishment, I can't wait to see what will happen when the committee, soon to become an official city commission, really gets to work. Pyramids, maybe?

While the group forming the center has outlined an excellent program of drama, concerts and films, the role of the art committee suggests a beginning, not a "major accomplishment."

ALMOST TWO of the four pages of the report are devoted to an explanation of how city government works, with such interesting facts as the number of European cities with a council-manager form of government (1,800).

The explanation is a good basic course in local government — a little long — but valuable to citizens unfamiliar with local government.

Government, the report observes, is "complicated and complex, the course of action is not always clear, the answers are not always forthcoming, and not everyone is happy with the decisions made."

A handy schedule of city bodies concludes the report. Most of the meetings will continue to play to empty houses. It's a pity, for government really is much more interesting than the report suggests.

The only comment coming my way this week on the report was from one resident who saw mine and wondered why she had not received her copy. "Guess I threw it out," she said, "with my junk mail."

A GUN BATTLE between Mill Valley police and runners in the Dipsea race this August seemed a bright prospect this week.

Dilapidated portions of the Dipsea Trail through the city have been barricaded by city crews as unsafe, and City Engineer Stanley M. Bala estimated necessary repairs will cost $18,000. Even if the city council agrees to do the job, funds to do all the work could not be budgeted until after July 1.

Jerome C. Hauke, vice president of Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the annual race over the mountain to Stinson Beach, told this reporter the chamber "will ask the city to take down the barricades if the trail is not rebuilt by race day."

What if the city declines to take them down? "Barricades aren't anything to runners," he answered. Re-routing the race would not be acceptable. Hauke said, because runners compete against times set on the official course in past races.

IF THE BARRICADES stand, the confrontation between City Fathers and dipsea runners will be Aug. 27 at 10 a.m. Maybe they should move it up to high noon.

Jensen First To Take Out City Papers

City Councilman Fred E. Jensen has become the first San Rafael office holder to take out papers for nomination for another term.

Filing for city offices does not open until Feb. 10, but papers for obtaining verification deputies may be taken out at any time. City Clerk W. C. Cornwell reported Jensen has picked his up.

City council terms of Jensen and Charles W. Aby on the council expire in April, along with that of Mayor C. Paul Bettini. Others whose terms expire are City Clerk Cornwell, City Atty. David Menary Jr., City Treasurer Angelina M. Soldavini, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, and board of education members Carl J. Brown, Anita C. Strom and Herbert L. Childress.

New Director Of Employment

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Peter Weinberger, brother of former Republican state chairman Caspar W. Weinberger, has been named by Gov. Reagan as state director of employment.

Weinberger, 52, replaces Albert B. Tieburg in the $24,500-a-year post. Tieburg steps down to his civil service post in the department as chief of the Division of Public Employment Offices and Benefit Payments.

Reagan also yesterday named William H. Tolbert, manager of the Ventura County Citrus Growers Committee, deputy director of employment in charge of the California Farm Labor Service.

Both are Republicans.

ART BUCHWALD

Recording Firms Scrambling To Follow Up Dirksen, Powell

WASHINGTON — The news that Adam Clayton Powell is putting out a record titled "Keep the Faith, Baby," and will use the royalties to pay off a libel judgment in New York City, is a great shot in the arm for the long-playing disk business. Every record company is looking for someone in the public eye to make an album that can compete with it.

I talked to the head of one of the largest record companies the other day and he was desperate to find an idea for a talk record.

"Sen. Dirksen started the whole thing," he said. "And now with Powell following up with his record we've got to come up with something to compete with them."

"Do you have any ideas?" "We've been working on some dandies. We're trying to persuade J. Edgar Hoover to put out a record titled 'Voices of Famous People I Have Bugged.' We'd like to use actual conversations that the FBI has picked up over the years."

"IT SOUNDS great. Has Hoover showed any interest?" "He claims Bobby Kennedy has all the tapes."

"Who else have you contacted about a record?" "Well, we've got one idea for a record called 'Sing Along With Joe Valachi.' The idea would be to use the tapes of Valachi singing to the police with a choir in the background."

"You could sub-title it 'Nongallant Men.' I suggested."

"I've also been on the phone to Alabama trying to get Lurleen Wallace to make a record for us."

"What did you have in mind for her?"

"WE THOUGHT of something like 'Lurleen Plays Music to Segregate By' with her husband George conducting the Alabama State Police Symphony Orchestra."

"It would sell better than 'Dixie.'"

"I'd also like to get Gov. Lester Maddox to make an LP titled 'Themes and Variations on Making Fried Chicken.'"

"HOW ABOUT Ronald Reagan reading his budget deficit on a long playing record?" I suggested. "We're hoping to get him to do one titled 'Ronnie Reagan Swings at Berkeley.' I think he works better before a live audience."

"It should be a riot," I said.

"We hope so. You know there's so much to be done in this field. We want to do a record called 'Bob McNamara and His Pentagon Brass' and another one titled 'Dean Rusk Reads Humorous Highlights From the Fulbright Hearings.'"

"I'd buy that one."

"One of our people has suggested we make one called 'Sex and the Supreme Court.' Each Supreme Court justice could read a passage from his favorite book that has been condemned as pornographic because it appeals to prurient interests."

"THE COVER alone would sell it," I said excitedly. "Has anyone talked to Bobby Baker?"

"Someone is over at the courthouse right now. We want to title it 'Bobby Baker Pleads Innocent' and we've promised if he did it we'd back him up with 200 violins."

"What about George Hamilton?"

"I've got a check in my drawer right now. As soon as he signs the contract it's his."

"What title would you put on it?"

"PRAISE THE LORD and Pass the Ammunition!"

Reagan To Give Speech In Oregon

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan plans to make his first out-of-state speech since assuming office at a Lincoln Day dinner Feb. 11 in Eugene, Ore.

His office said yesterday that before the evening speech, sponsored by the Lane County Republican Central Committee, he will meet at noon with Oregon officials.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

County Administrator Salary Compared to Kerr, Seeger Pay

Day by day there are so many "happenings"—world-wide—national—and state, that the "happenings" in our local county government are somewhat overshadowed. This is the place, my friends, though, where you have the power to see that corrections are made.

For several weeks I have wanted to bring to your attention, again, what is happening in the administrator complex that is of definite importance to you and your pocket book. I have previously said that there is a woeful lack of experience and training in this group.

THE RECENT mention of the salary paid to the president of the University of California brings to mind the increase of the administrator's pay from $21,000 to $23,100 granted in December. You may recall the then chairman of the board of supervisors, Leydecker with supervisors Behr and Kettenhofen tried to increase it to $25,000 and that if it hadn't been for the refusal of supervisors Gness and Storer to go along this would have happened.

Leydecker was quoted in the I-J as arguing that the manager of the Marin Municipal Water District was receiving that amount and with a smaller budget.

Well then, read this: The water district manager is an engineer with years of experience with the vast system of lakes, dams, reservoirs, miles and miles of underground plant plus the future needs to be planned for along with the treasurer, for reporting to the governing board of the district for authorization.

THEN READ THIS: The director of the state's 4,000 highway patrolmen (with an understandably large budget) receives slightly over $22,000. And then this: The president of the University of California, with nine campuses and 85,000 students plus all the professors, teachers and clerical staff required, receives less than twice as much as is being paid this administrator, or $45,000. Just how cockeyed can reasoning get in trying to justify this increase.

I HAVE ALWAYS believed in paying well in order to remove concern about personal problems as much as possible so as to receive greater attention to the job at hand. But too much is more than enough. There is just not the background in training and experience to warrant this salary that is being paid. In the years prior to his employment by the county the following is his experience from September, 1943 to January, 1957: wage analyst, War Labor Board; examiner, National Labor Relations Board; deputy labor commissioner, State of California; assistant consultant with Kroeger and Associates at Manila (16 months). The salaries were $200 to $743. None of this was work that is required at the county level.

Since March 1, 1957 the salary here has grown from $703 or $8,436 a year to the present $23,100.

THIS FISCAL year his office is budgeted for $112,251 — the personnel office for $69,432 and purchasing for $35,703 or a total of $217,436, an increase of $189,272 a year over the $48,164 of 10 years ago. In that 10 years the number of county employees has increased 109 per cent. The administrator count has increased 400 per cent. You are being gypped and plenty.

AGAIN, YOU don't have to take it. Just remember that.

Hoffa Makes Phone Tap Allegations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fighting to stay out of prison, James R. Hoffa has told the Supreme Court he and two of his lawyers were subjected to widespread Justice Department eavesdropping and telephone tapping during his 1964 jury-tampering trial.

And, attorneys for the Teamsters Union president claim, an assistant director of the FBI suggested to a newspaper publisher that Hoffa's lawyers ask the Justice Department to conduct an investigation of wiretapping in connection with Hoffa's trials.

The allegations were in papers filed with the court yesterday in an effort to convince the justices to reconsider Hoffa's conviction and eight-year prison sentence. These were upheld by the high court Dec. 12 — before "direct evidence" of the eavesdropping was obtained, Hoffa's lawyers said.

The Justice Department should be directed to respond to the allegations, they told the court.

Jordan Names New Assistant

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — H.P. (Pat) Sullivan, Santa Clara County registrar of voters, is the new assistant secretary of state.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan yesterday named Sullivan, 45, as a replacement for the retiring Walter C. Stutler. Sullivan scored first among applicants taking Civil Service exams for the job.

Stutler will retire March 1, and Sullivan will join the secretary of state's staff the middle of February.

Driver On Probation

Arthur Curtis Bush, 45, San Francisco, was fined $230 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. San Anselmo police arrested him on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard Oct. 30.

Reagan: 'Budget Picture Darker'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says California's finances are "just as bad and a little worse" than he had anticipated.

"When the final blow falls, it will actually be darker than I painted it," Reagan told a news conference yesterday.

He said he will present his budget to the Legislature Tuesday, but may outline it on Monday.

TALENT LENDING

The governor said he had met earlier with 97 business and industrial leaders throughout the state to ask them to lend top executives "to go into every department of the state government in an effort to develop a more efficient operation and to cut spending."

"I hope it will result in the taxpayer getting a dollar's worth of efficiency for every dollar's worth of money," Reagan said.

KERR QUESTION

Reagan was asked whether he agreed with charges by former state Republican chairman Caspar Weinberger that Democratic Assembly speaker Jesse Unruh manipulated the firing of University of California president Clark Kerr to embarrass Reagan and to aid Unruh's ambitions to be governor. In Sacramento last night, an Unruh aide said Weinberger's charge "simply is untrue."

The university Board of Regents, by a 14-8 vote, fired Kerr last Friday.

Reagan replied that he thought only the two regents asked by Kerr for a clarification of his tenure knew that the matter would come up at the regents' meeting.

PROTESTS HIT

The governor denied charges the firing was politically motivated by his administration.

Protesting students and faculty "passed sentence without a trial," he said.

"It would seem to me that in the world of intellectual pursuit, they would be the first to search for the truth," he said. "They have jumped to a completely false conclusion with regard to Clark Kerr."

Reagan said "there has never been a review" of the method of selecting a university president and that a job description would be desirable.

He said he "would lean toward a scholar" rather than an administrator as university president, "when I think of the problem of recruiting scholars."

Reagan said his decision to postpone an investigation of the university had nothing to do with the cutting of $300,000 in funds for such a probe by the Assembly Rules Committee.

He said that he had drafted

Muir Beach Variance

Hearing on a variance to allow Rex Williams use of a 7,845 square foot building site where 10,000 square feet are required at Highway One and Sunset Way, Muir Beach, is set for 2:30 p.m. Monday before the Marin County Zoning Administrator.

Unruh Probe Fund Request Gets Setback

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly's Republican leader called on Speaker Jesse M. Unruh today to slow down in his request for another $300,000 for the legislative probe of higher education.

Robert T. Monagan of Tracy said he approved of the aims of the joint committee now looking into the University of California, the state colleges and other aspects of the state's huge post-high school educational system.

But with "unrest at the university and student demonstrations, there is no point in emphasizing the fact there will be another inquiry," he told a reporter.

"Maybe we can work it out in a couple of weeks," he said. "A month won't hurt."

Monagan also warned that the study might be used to delay Republican Gov. Reagan's proposal for tuition at the university and the state colleges.

The Assembly Rules Committee, 4-3 Democratic, handed Unruh a surprising setback in his request for more money for the committee, which already has received $100,000, when it delayed action until its next meeting.

The joint committee hasn't made much news since it was created in 1965 after the free speech demonstrations at the University of California at Berkeley. It has held no public hearings.

Monagan noted it doesn't have to complete its studies of such matters as finances, tuition, scholarship and other facets of higher education until Jan. 1, 1969.

Car Light Check In Senate Proposal

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A proposed Senate bill would require service station attendants to ask "check your lights, sir?"

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said yesterday his bill would be aimed at malfunctioning or inoperative vehicle headlights and taillights, "serious contributors to nighttime accidents."

Shell Explodes, Injuring Seven

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI) — A high explosive mortar shell exploded prematurely over a practice range yesterday, hospitalizing seven Marines with shrapnel wounds.

Five other Marines were treated and released.

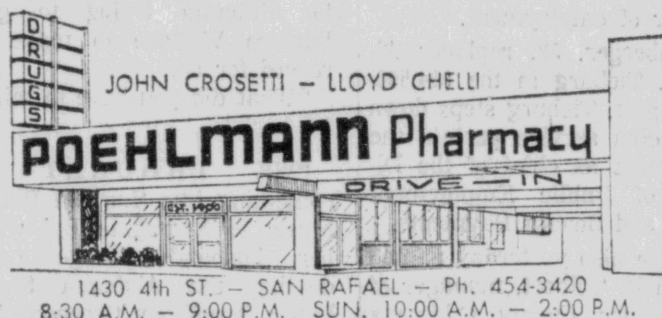

A base spokesman said the 12 Marines were firing an 81-mm mortar and were crouched on the ground behind the weapon when the 19-inch long, 9½ pound round exploded prematurely 4 feet overhead.

The 81-mm mortar has a range of more than 4,000 yards and is used in combat for close artillery and infantry support. The weapon, ordinarily operated by a nine-man crew, is loaded by hand.

WHY DON'T THEY PULL DOWN THE SHADES!

THERE IS NOTHING to hide. Costs of prescriptions are dependent on the months, even years, of scientific research that goes into development of today's wonder drugs. How much is health worth? How much the loss of a week's wages from illness? It pays to get a prescription promptly, when ill.

Britain Prepares To Re-nationalize Steel

LONDON (AP) — Fulfilling a campaign promise made more than two years ago, Britain's Labor government won final House of Commons approval last night of a bill to re-nationalize the nation's steel industry.

Overriding bitter opposition from the Conservatives, the House passed the bill by a vote of 306-220 on the third and final reading. It now goes to the House of Lords, which can delay the measure but not reject it.

Charles P. Davies Will Spend Vacation In Hawaiian Islands

By MOLLY MARIN

Hawaii will be the vacation spot for Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch in Novato before Mr. Davies goes on for a months business trip to Manila, returning by way of Taipei, Formosa and Osaka and Nagoia in Japan. The Davies will leave immediately after the wedding of Sandra Ann Necrason and Arthur Francis Kelly II tomorrow at the Catholic Chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base. Sandra is the daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. C. F. Necrason of Novato.

Elizabeth Banning Davies will return to Novato following the Davies' week's stay at Mauna Kea Beach Hotel in Hawaii.

WHILE THE Davies are gone and until Charles' return, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hollenbeck will reside at the Davies Ranch. Mr. Hollenbeck is a brother of Mrs. Davies and he has recently accepted a position as assistant to C. R. Terrell, manager of the commissary at Hamilton Air Force Base. Recently returned from the Islands are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kieckhefer of Kent Woodlands. They were guest at the Davies home in Novato on Tuesday evening.

IT WAS A MEMORABLE evening for first nighters who braved the "downpour" last night to attend Marin General's premiere of "Grand Prix." Cheers and songs echoed in the buses transporting the St. Francis Yacht Club to the Golden Gate Theater. And during intermission several confided they'd brought marizene and cotton to last out the gruelling three hours of racing, since the camera puts you in the drivers seat!

ENTERTAINING at cocktails preceding tonight's Ross Valley Players production of "Any Wednesday" which is being sponsored by the Marin Humane Society

Auxiliary are Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Graves Jr. of Ross. They have invited Messrs. and Mesdames John A. Lord of Ross, John E. McNear of Glenwood and Mrs. J. B. Rice of Ignacio.

HOME IN Tiburon following a trip to Panama aboard French freighters are the Elliot Seymours. The Marin couple, who were accompanied by the Raymond Samples of San Francisco, had perfect weather on their trip. They especially enjoyed El Salvador and Panama City.

AMONG THE Marinites who have taken sponsor tables for the Junior League fashion show at the Fairmont Hotel March 1 are Mesdames Joseph Hickingbotham Jr., of San Rafael, William Cavalier Jr. of Ross, Frank Paganini of Ross, Thomas Guerin, Jesse L. Carr and Walter Freitas of San Rafael and Kenneth Bechtel of Kentfield.

'WHAT ARE WE GONNA DO . . . ?'

Illustrating "What Are We Gonna Do With This Kid?" are four members of the Tamalpais Valley Players who will appear in the play of this title by Mrs. Joe Allen to be presented Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Tamalpais Valley School. Surprised at a call from the police, parents of Jane Allen

Family Matters Require Special Court Treatment

SAN-FRANCISCO (AP) — A woman professor of law at the University of California advocates special family courts with scientists aiding the judges in dealing with divorce, paternity, child custody, adoptions and guardianships.

Dr. Herma Hill Kay of the Berkeley campus told the Northern California section of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers that social and behavioral scientists should help make decisions in the interest of the family, especially the children.

She addressed a meeting Tuesday night dealing with "Youth in Crisis — A Challenge for Change."

Capt. Victor Vieira, in charge of the juvenile bureau of the Berkeley police department, said respect for law and order is diminishing in the home and that feeds into school and community. He said the incidence of running away has increased 78 per cent in Berkeley in five years.

Vieira also noted that juvenile narcotic arrests increased in Berkeley by 873 per cent between 1965 and 1966.

Dr. Denzil Widel, superintendent of the Richmond school district, criticized parents who encourage their children to drink beer and smoke. He said this leads to high school graduation cocktail parties.

Dr. Widel said many youths fail to get any real attention from their parents other than material helps such as availability of cars.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Corte Madera.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories more than 30 days after the wedding date.

Marin Forum Sets Debate On Abortion

A pro and con discussion on liberalization of the state abortion laws will be given by the Rev. Lester Kinsolving, nationally known Episcopalian worker-priest, and attorney Leighton Hatch of Marin at the Marin Forum on Feb. 3.

The Rev. Kinsolving is a member of the California committee on therapeutic abortion and is in charge of the defense fund for the five doctors currently under indictment. A native of New York, he was graduated from theological school in 1955 in Berkeley, where he makes his home. He has served with mission churches and parishes and last fall was assigned as a worker-priest in San Francisco, where he served as co-chairman of the legislative division of the diocese. The Rev. Kinsolving is president of the Assn. of Episcopal Clergy and he serves as religious columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES LEROY DEAL

Miss Jenkins Bride Of James L. Deal

The wedding of James LeRoy Deal and Karen Jenkins, both of San Rafael, was blessed in a religious ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church by the Reverend John D. Riley on Saturday.

The young couple were married in a civil ceremony in Twin Falls, Idaho on Dec. 29.

Attendants at the Blessing before members of the families, were Trent Daly of Castro Valley and Melinda Hays of San Rafael.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Chris Jenkins of San Rafael, wore a long gown of white Ottenberg and lace. Karen is the sister of Scott Christian Jenkins of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Christian F. Jenkins of Los Gatos are her grandparents. She is the niece of Mrs. Lauris Norstad of New York, wife of General Norstad, former NATO Supreme Commander.

James is the son of Roy Deal of San Rafael and has been serving with the U. S. Army in Berlin, Germany since graduation from Terra Linda High School. His brother, David Deal, with the U. S. Navy in San Diego, was home on leave to attend the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ogden of Castro Valley are the grandparents of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom will leave in a few days for his new assignment with the 173rd Airborne, U. S. Army at Bien Hoa, South Vietnam.

Specially Treated Tissue Best For Packing Silver

Hints for the proper care of fine silver:

1. Never allow rubber bands or any rubberized fabric to remain in contact with silver flatware or holloware. Rubber's high sulphur content will cause rapid tarnishing.

2. If you must pack your silver, use the specially treated tissue paper designed for the purpose — never facial tissue.

3. Never use silver vessels for popcorn or which can also produce a chemical reaction harmful to silver.

4. If yours is a small family, rotate your precious silver pieces as you do your fine linens; silver thrives on contact.

5. Wash your silver with warm, soapy water, either by hand or in the dishwasher. Immediately after using it, rinse well and dry while still warm.

Homeowners Split On Council's Pay

A small group of San Anselmo Home Assn. members split last night on a proposal that would entail a vote of the people on salary for city councilmen.

San Anselmo councilmen introduced an ordinance Tuesday to give themselves a monthly salary of $150, under a state law that allows that exact salary in a city of the population of San Anselmo.

If the ordinance is passed, it would take a vote of the people to raise or lower the salary. The proposal before the association members was to back passage of the ordinance, on the condition that there be a measure on the April ballot that would give voters a chance to choose between $150 a month and a lower salary, $25 a month, to a maximum of $75 a month.

Members voted 4-3 in favor of the proposal, with Mrs. John F. West, association president, breaking a 3-3 tie. Mrs. West said that in view of the small turnout and close vote, she would not present this proposal to the city council as the association's stand, but would report the opinions, including the opposition. There was opposition to councilmen receiving any pay at all, and one director, Mrs. Noreen Leitzell, felt the $150 a month pay is justified. James Reed, a director, contended that if councilmen are paid "the connotation will be wrong," and they will become "hired hands."

Mrs. West noted that the council raises, if passed, would cost the city $9,000 a year. "I think the city council might deserve to be paid, but as a practical matter for San Anselmo now, money is needed desperately," she said.

Members voted unanimously to urge the city council to have the San Anselmo Library enter into a reciprocal book lending agreement with the Marin County Library District for one-year trial period.

The council rejected the library proposal last January after the library board recommended it by a 4-1 vote; then rejected it again last month. Under the agreement, holders of San Anselmo Library cards could use the county library, and vice versa, at no charge.

The association also asked the San Anselmo Library Board to "evaluate the pros and cons of dissolving the San Anselmo Library District and amalgamating with the Marin County Library District and report its finding to the city council."

Mrs. Virginia Keating, county librarian, told of services provided by the county library and of reciprocal agreements with other city libraries.

The association gave a vote of thanks to the Marin Municipal Water District for its water main improvements in the city.

State College Trustees Support Temporary Freeze On Admissions

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Some 190,000 old and new students expected at California state colleges next fall have the assurance today they'll be offered a good education — if Gov. Reagan's budget lets them all in the door.

State college trustees climaxed a two-day meeting yesterday with a pledge to oppose tuition and maintain quality education despite Reagan's proposed budget slash.

"If ultimately it will become necessary to limit the number of (new) student admissions to maintain quality," the trustees resolved, "this will be done."

The trustees left intact Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke's temporary freeze on new admissions and faculty hiring. Dumke said he'd wait to see Reagan's budget next week before changing his order.

The trustees tersely opposed Reagan's tuition suggestion and defended "the historic principle of free tuition in California higher education."

The legislature has the power to set state college tuition but the same authority at the university of California is held only by the regents.

The resolution also called for an 18.5 per cent faculty salary increase over current levels and immediate funds to continue faculty recruiting.

The vote was 13-3 after several hours of deliberation and revision. Dissenters said they opposed the resolution only because they thought some kind of

A representative of the College Council of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, Bud S. Hutchinson had told the trustees that "we are quite prepared at the last step to withdraw our services."

Some students at Sacramento State College, where the meeting was held, gathered signatures and put up signs opposing budget cuts and tuition.

Earlier the trustees accepted a report from Dumke saying faculty morale was low because of the budget cut controversy.

The trustees modified language mentioning possible admissions cutbacks. Dr. Max Rafferty, state school superintendent, referred to the UC regents' policy to admit all qualified students. "I don't think you're in any position to talk about limiting enrollment," he said.

Rafferty supported the deletion of the term "insufficient funds" from the original resolution. He is an ex-officio regent and trustee.

THE DAMS RUNNETH OVER

Marin flood victims can take consolation in the fact the water that didn't flow through the living room is now helping fill the county's dams to overflowing. Above, water cascades out of North Marin Water District's Stafford Dam, filled to the brim by the recent heavy rains.

DOWN THE SPILLWAY—Creating a powerful force, water rushes down the spillway and out of Marin Municipal Water District's Nicasio Dam, one of the county reservoirs overflowing from this year's near-record rainfall. At least for the time being, there will be no shortage of water in Marin. (Independent-Journal photos)

BOARD TO DISCUSS DOUGLAS REPORTS

Tuesday Hearing Set On Grand Jury Call For Eliminating Post, Count Aide's Reply

By RICHARD LYTTLE

John M. Douglas, Marin County director of economic development and the center of controversy since his hiring by the board in December, 1965, may again see his job put on the line Tuesday.

County supervisors then will discuss the recommendation of the 1966 grand jury that Douglas' job should be eliminated.

The report, to be discussed during the morning session of the board, is expected to be rebutted by a report from Douglas, giving further details of the purposes of his job. This report was asked of Douglas several weeks ago, prior to the jury's recommendation.

The jury also recommended that no county money be given to the Marin County Visitors Bureau or the Marin Chamber of Commerce unless those groups merge by June 30.

Motel owner Ben Farlatti will speak to this point. Farlatti, vice president of the visitors bureau and a member of the county chamber board of directors, will propose a merger under a five or seven member commission appointed by the board of supervisors.

He also will urge reactivation of the "Marvelous Marin" title of the county's promotional effort.

"Sure it's corny," Farlatti said, "but it was something people remembered."

Farlatti said he will make his proposal as an individual. He also said he is not out to seek abolition of Douglas's job.

He said the proposed commission could take in the work of both the county chamber and the visitors bureau, with a top man as staff. Local chambers of commerce and such cultural efforts as the county now supports would operate independently, but there would be close liaison with the commission and its staff on promotional work.

Farlatti believes the move would mean that promotion would be more effective and would cost no more.

"The plain truth is that for the past two years, it's been miserable," he said.

College Concert Time Is Changed

The College of Marin Community Orchestra will present its winter concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the college gymnasium.

The concert, first by the orchestra in the afternoon, was switched from Sunday evening, as announced earlier.

Selections will be "Consecration of House Overture" by Beethoven, Symphony No. 5 by William Boyce, "The House Hold Muse" by Darius Milhaud, and "Dances from Nell Gwynn" by Edward German.

Admission is free.

Bolinas Harbor Board Ends Audubon Tidelands Lease

Bolinas Harbor District cancelled Audubon Canyon Ranch's lease for 350 tideland acres in the north end of Bolinas Lagoon, it was disclosed last night at the regular commission meeting.

Cancellation of the 50-year lease for 350 tideland acres in year, reported Norman T. Gilroy, Mill Valley architect-planner who drew the proposed master plan for the lagoon. The ranch leased the tideland as a wildlife preserve for $1 a year in 1960.

The district cancelled the lease last week, Gilroy said, in a meeting between representatives of the district and ranch over re-negotiation of the lease. "Relations between the Audubon Society and the district have changed because of the master planning studies," he said.

Conservationists have attacked the proposed plan on the ground that adding berths for 1,500 boats and tourist facilities in the lagoon would spoil its natural state.

Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr., chairman of the ranch's board of directors, said a special board meeting probably would be called to consider the cancellation and a basis for a new lease.

Harbor district commissioners last night also asked their attorney, Sherrod S. Davis of San Mateo, to determine whether a court test could be initiated now to force settlement of the issue of whether the district or county has zoning authority over the lagoon. Each has maintained that it has absolute zoning control.

Commissioner Thomas R. Tawns was authorized to negotiate with Mrs. Anne Kent for purchase of the 110-acre Kent Island, which would become the focal point of development in the lagoon under Gilroy's plan. The tideland island has been appraised at $54,500, Gilroy said.

Commissioners asked the State Division of Harbors and Watercraft for $67,000 in state and federal grants to study details of the proposed master plan for Bolinas Lagoon.

Gilroy was authorized to apply for the funds. The application will be for $30,000 next fiscal year and $37,000 the following year, Gilroy explained. The study will take about a year, he said.

In their annual election of officers, commissioners re-elected Gene W. McDaniel, board president. Thomas R. Tawns was elected vice chairman, Archie A. Goldsberry was elected secretary, and Mrs. Harriet Greene was appointed treasurer.

Committee chairmen named by McDaniel were Thomas J. Barfield, legal; John H. Middleton, engineering; Tawns, planning; Goldsberry, financial planning, and McDaniel, public relations.

Mill Valley Denies Old Building Pleas

Mill Valley Board of Appeals last night denied appeals by three property owners from orders by city building inspectors that their structures be condemned as public nuisances.

The board gave Emmet O. Townsend until April 27 to demolish or repair three old houses at 247 Miller Avenue. S. Aske-land was given 10 days to apply for city permits to repair a garage at 286 Marion Avenue, and 60 days to repair or demolish an abandoned house at the same address.

Commissioners ordered H. H. Wainwright to begin demolition of an abandoned house on Wainwright Place within 10 days, and to complete demolition within 90 days.

None of the three property owners indicated whether the board's orders would be appealed to the city council, reported Loren K. Rohde, building inspector.

Coin Bank Looted

About $20 in change in a coin bank was taken from the home of Ernest Couly, 96 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, while Couly was at work yesterday, according to San Anselmo police.

Quentin Tries Putting More Men To Work

San Quentin Prison's tense peace was further tested today as authorities began releasing for work inmates from the troublesome south and east cell blocks.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said prisoners from those blocks were being screened before allowed to return to work. He was unable to estimate the number released. He said the south and east blocks held about 2,000 men, many of them disciplinary problems.

A total of 1,300 inmates were at work today, nine days after a racial flare-up involving 1,000 Negro and Caucasian convicts. Officials since have been releasing inmates for work slowly so as to avoid further trouble.

Park said all but about 100 of the inmates in the more peaceful north and west blocks were at work. Still locked up, he said, were disciplinary cases.

The prison has restored visiting rights to men in the north and west blocks, but cut the time from an hour to 15 minutes.

Many Object To Tomales Floats Plan

About 25 letters objecting to plans by a Balboa man to anchor floats for shellfish cultivation on the western shore of Tomales Bay have been received by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Corps spokesman Alf E. Ekeland said today the engineers would likely grant a request by Inverness Yacht Club for more time to consider what members call the repercussions of the application by Leland D. Christensen to anchor floats in Sacramento Landing and Duck Cove, one mile north of Tomales Bay State Park.

Marin County Parks and Recreation Department had lodged objection and others had been received from boat operators, property owners and conservationists, said Ekeland.

It would be about a week before he considered the file full of objections, he said, and later before the corps decided on its course of action.

Burglars Hit Super Market

Burglars, frustrated in their efforts to open a safe in a San Rafael food market early yesterday, turned to the cash registers and liquor shelves, taking $709 in cash and merchandise.

Employees opening the Bret Harte Super Market at 93 Woodland Avenue discovered the theft yesterday morning.

Police said the burglars entered the store by climbing from a car onto the roof, then prying open a ventilator and lowering themselves to the floor, 15 feet below.

Attempts to pry open a 1,000-pound floor safe failed, police said, so the thieves, using a can opener, jimmied four cash registers and drawers, pocketing $391.

Also stolen were 50 bottles of whisky, valued at $318.

Span Lobbyist Legal, But Some Directors Opposing

Hiring of a lobbyist for the Golden Gate Bridge District at $16,000 per year is legal, but some of the directors don't like the idea.

Director Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco declared yesterday that lobbyist Gordon Garland is being paid "to sit on his hands." He made the charge during a meeting of the legislation committee of the bridge district board.

Director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Marin said the payment of $16,000 to the lobbyist is "a little bit distasteful," but reasoned that a representative from the bridge district is needed in Sacramento to keep a watchful eye on bills affecting the district.

Jerome B. White, attorney for the bridge district, told directors that last December's contract to hire Garland was valid and binding.

John E. Dearman, newly appointed director from San Francisco, disclosed that Garland has many other duties beside lobbying for the bridge. According to Dearman, Garland is also lobbyist for the California Chiropractic Assn., California Water Advertising Council and gets $2,000 to $3,000 per month from each group.

Camp Century, a U. S. Army post in Greenland, was built 30 feet beneath the snow, say the National Geographic.

Today is Friday, Jan. 27, the 27th day of 1967 with 338 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

Austrian composer Wolfgang Mozart was born on this day in 1756.

On this day in history:
In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued general Civil War order No. 1, instructing Northern army and Navy forces to move forward not later than Feb. 22.

In 1880, Thomas Edison was granted a patent for an electric incandescent lamp.

In 1943, the eighth U.S. Air Force staged World War II's first all-American air raid on Germany, bombing Wilhelmshaven in the daylight.

In 1964, Republican Sen. Margaret Chise Smith of Maine became the first woman to challenge for a presidential nomination in a major party. She lost.

A thought for the day — President Lincoln said: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Expert's Unglamorous Bidding Followed By Terrific Playing

One of the secrets of winning is to get to "impossible" games and slams—and make them. As in all such cases, the bidding of today's hand was far from elegant—but the result was quite satisfactory to Don Krauss, Los Angeles expert.

Krauss won the first trick with the ace of spades and resisted the temptation to start off with three rounds of trumps.

This would simplify the play if the five missing trumps broke 3-2, but it would cost the contract if the trumps broke badly.

Krauss saw no reason to rely solely on the normal trump break.

Instead, he drew just two rounds of trumps—with the ace and king.

If both opponents followed suit both times, he could get to his hand with the ace of diamonds to draw the last trump.

Then he could lead hearts, planning to discard two diamonds on dummy's high spades.

FOUND OUT
As it happened, East could not follow suit on the second round of trumps, and Krauss thus found out exactly what he wanted to know.

Now he was in position to change his plan.

It was obvious that West would have led the ace of hearts if he had that card as well as his four good trumps.

Clearly, therefore, East had the ace of hearts.

Declarer discarded two hearts on the high spades and led the king of hearts from dummy.

East put up the ace of hearts, and Krauss ruffed.

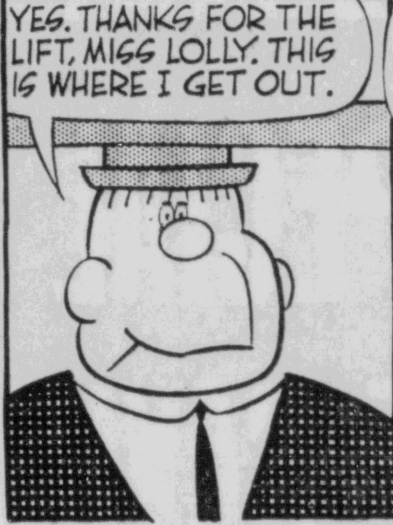

Declarer then led the queen of clubs and gave up a club trick to West's jack.

Nothing could stop declarer from reaching dummy with the king of diamonds to discard two diamonds on the queen and jack of hearts.

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes.

Funny Sabotage
MOSCOW (UPI) — Officials wondered for a time if it was sabotage when a 1.8 mile underwater pipeline of a chemical fiber factory in Daugapavilis, Latvia, was mysteriously jammed. But it was no saboteur, the Tass news agency reported. More than 1,000 eels somehow had gotten through the pipeline's protective nets.

'66 BUICK
SKYLARK
$2995

Here's the biggest cream puff, closest-to-new Buick Skylark convertible in the Bay Area.
It's the dealer's wife's car that has just over 5,000 miles on it.

Fire Engine red with white nylon top, red bucket seats, center console, power steering, automatic, power windows, w/w tires and V8 engine. All the Buick luxury extras.

Never been registered. She has driven the car to transport kids most of the time, just like the average Marin County mother. Carries the full 2-year or 24,000 mile G.M. guarantee just like a brand new
'67 Buick.

The new car sticker price in the window says it sold new for $4000 but we'll sell this sticker-new Skylark for only $2995 for a saving of $1000 off the new car price, yet with all the new car guarantees.

GOING TO SCHOOL'S A THRILL

Rickie Winchester, 7, alone and unafraid, rides a breeches buoy from his home in the Cape Neddick Lighthouse, across 200 feet of pounding waves, to the Maine shore, to get his school bus. The youngster, whose father, Coastguardsman David Winchester, is keeper of the Nubble Light, makes the trip twice daily. (AP Wirephoto)

Flying Shoebox Paves Way For New Merchant Marine

By DONALD ZYLSTRA
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—It looks like a shoebox. But it's a ship.

The ends are square. The vessel rides on a cushion of air and flies over the waves instead of through them.

It can hit speeds of up to 100 miles per hour — pushed by jets of water.

This radically different cargo carrier is still on the drawing boards of Navy designers in the Pentagon. But it is nevertheless at the heart of a major revolution that has rocked the defense department and is now threatening to capsize America's maritime industry.

For Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara now appears determined to grasp available new technology to revitalize the nation's merchant fleet. His goal is to provide the military forces with ships that could carry immense amounts of oil, equipment and supplies to any part of the world — quickly.

YARDS UNHAPPY

But this goal is being fought by maritime interests who regard his concerns as a threat to long-established shipyards and to the tradition-steeped shipping industry itself.

To get the revolution started, McNamara has had to fight tradition within the Navy.

The first indication of this came a year ago with the resignations of the chief of Navy's Bureau of Ships and his top assistant. Rear Admirals William A. Brockett and Charles A. Curtze quit in October, 1965, because they disagreed with the McNamara team's new shipbuilding ideas.

Their successors have made an abrupt about-face. They are dreaming up plans that outdo the wildest suggestions of the Pentagon's whiz kid analysts.

Instead of the usual propellers—or even aircraft-type fans or jet engines mounted above the deck, as in early models—the Navy plans to propel the new craft by pumping water into tubes at the bow and squirting it out again in powerful jet streams at the stern.

Both propulsion power and the air blast to hold the big ships off the water will probably be provided by nuclear power sources.

With the active blessing of McNamara and Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze, navy designers are moving full speed ahead—studying ways to develop large ocean-going combat and transport ships supported by "captured air bubbles."

Treated For Cuts

A 27-year-old Long Beach woman was treated for slashed wrists yesterday at Marin General Hospital and taken to Napa State Hospital for observation. Rita Marie Kindig was visiting at friend at the Ebbtide Apartments in Sausalito when she attempted suicide. Sausalito firemen took her to Marin General Hospital.

McNamara's institute for defense analyses believes the bold new concept of a 5,000-ton ship riding piggyback on an air bubble "appears to offer more potential for Naval military vehicles than any other development during the last two centuries."

LOW SPEED

Today's biggest and speediest surface combat ships (even with nuclear power) have been limited for decades to speeds only a little above 40 miles per hour.

Their design involves shouldering aside thousands of tons of sea water for every yard of forward motion. At speeds approaching 45 miles per hour, doubling or even tripling the power of today's best vessels increases their speed only a mile or two per hour.

If ships capable of speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour are built, Navy engineers foresee the need for pilots who would combine the skills of aircraft crews and today's helmsmen. Present "rules of the nautical road" governing traffic at sea would have to be altered, to insure safe operation of the speeding giants.

"To date we've been the victims of our own delusions and inertia," one Navy source said. "With the development of the nuclear submarine, many nautical design experts fell into the trap of assuming that the days of the surface combat ship were numbered. We're convinced nothing could be further from the truth."

"No major new hull design has been used in large Naval or merchant ships over the last two centuries. Even our most modern nuclear-propelled ships merely cram sophisticated electronics and missile weaponry on a platform above an archaic hull."

Before the problems of tripling speeds and designing unconventional new hulls can be attacked on a large scale, the Navy hopes to begin revamping its entire theory and practice of building ships.

FIRST STEPS

The first step will involve producing vessels not very different in speed and design from some afloat today.

The Navy will build 15 or 20 big Fast Deployment Logistic ships for a start. These new supply vessels will be huge

More School Board Filings

Leo Souza of 20 Seafirth Road, Tiburon, filed yesterday at the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office for election to the Reed School District Board in the April 8 election.

Souza, operations manager for an insurance rating bureau in San Francisco, served as a Reed district trustee from November, 1960, to December, 1964, then resigned.

Mrs. Bette Wallace of 134 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, filed candidacy papers yesterday for election to the Tamalpais High School District Board. She is serving on the board by appointment.

Capable of storing all the ground weapons and helicopters of a modern army division, these vessels could be anchored anywhere in the world — within easy distance of potential trouble spots.

FDL ships would be poised to move equipment and supplies ashore on very short notice. During long moored periods their crews would keep their military cargoes constantly groomed for use.

The Navy is primarily interested in the FDL program because the Pentagon has chosen this effort to test new quantity methods of building large ships.

ONE CONTRACT

Instead of doling out contracts for as many as 20 FDLs among six or eight U.S. shipyards as in the past, the Navy will award the entire contract to a single prime contractor within a single yard.

The Pentagon wants to learn how much building costs can be trimmed by using daring new fabrication methods — applied to a series of identical ships. Planners expect the project to produce enough manufacturing economies to more than offset the estimated $150 million cost of outfitting an entire new shipyard to build the ships.

Research and development costs could reach $30 million for the program — expected to employ 5,000 people eventually. A contractor will be chosen in mid-June, 1967.

Firms surviving into the elimination round include Litton Industries, Lockheed Corp. and the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. All are aerospace firms with shipyards at their disposal.

Working models of the large air-cushion vessels already are being demonstrated at the Navy's David Taylor Model Basin near here.

McNamara and his civilian associates appear determined to produce operating ships in less than 20 years — maybe in the late 1970s. They are likely to arrive, however, well behind the British, who have an estimated seven-year head start in this new technology.

The British are looking toward big 4,200-ton "captured-air-bubble" type ocean ships — with a 1,500-ton payload and a 2,300-mile operating radius.

Both nations have developed smaller vessels ranging from 150 to 500 tons — designed for ocean travel in seas up to 25 feet.

West Germans Ready To Recognize Reds

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Cabinet has approved the establishment of diplomatic relations with Communist Romania, government press chief Karl-Guenther von Hase announced today.

Von Hase did not say when agreement to establish diplomatic relations would be announced, but it may come after the arrival Monday of Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manlescu for a four-day visit.

Sierra Outing Signups Open

Monday is the deadline for reservations for a trip into snow country planned by Terra Linda Recreation - Park District for Feb. 4.

In Good Condition

Herbert Grusser, 54, of 17 El Cerrito Avenue, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion suffered yesterday in a fall at Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co. in Sausalito. An employee of the firm, he hit his head when he fell over a hatch, Sausalito firemen reported.

LBJ's Consumer Affairs Office Losing Its Power?

By PETER BERNSTEIN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The White House and Esther Peterson have refused to comment on reports that her role will be sharply reduced as the President's special assistant for consumer affairs.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., head of a House consumer affairs subcommittee, said the entire consumer cause would suffer if the President does downgrade her office. He said her powers are already "weak."

Congressional sources are predicting that Mrs. Peterson will resign as special assistant to devote full time to her job as assistant secretary of labor and that her Consumer Affairs Office will be reduced to a bureau within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

These sources say the President plans to deliver a consumer message in March and the move to transfer her office out of the White House will be made shortly thereafter.

If the shift is made it would come at a time Mrs. Peterson's office has taken an increasingly active role in consumer affairs. Housewives who picketed for lower food prices in some 100 American cities last summer believe they found a staunch defender in Mrs. Peterson who addressed consumer groups in Denver, Colo.; Phoenix, Ariz., and Queens, N.Y.

However, President John-

SAUCERS OVER MANHATTAN?

It looks like a whole squadron of unidentified flying objects has invaded the skyline of the Sunnyside rail yards in Queens, N. Y., but it's just an optical illusion. An alert photographer spotted reflections of a railroad car's ceiling lights in the train window, and this is the result.

(UPI Telephoto)

son's economic aides have sought to disassociate the White House from her advocacy of selective buying. Last summer she had to pay her own transportation to Denver because the government refused.

Traditionally, the White House has left it should have no operating programs in any field. As a result, the physical fitness and food for peace programs have been shifted to executive agencies.

Rosenthal, who has championed the consumer on Capitol Hill, says there are increasing signs the Administration is bowing to pressures from the business community.

"The Administration still sees the consumer problem as one of safety — merely protecting the consumer from unsafe automobiles or drugs," said Rosenthal. "But the real problem for the consumer is much larger. It involves the right of consumers to receive information from the government about many products and to be represented by an agency at the highest levels of government."

Rosenthal intends to promote the consumer cause when the administration forwards to congress its bill for a new department of business and labor.

As a member of the House Government Operations Committee, which will act on the bill, Rosenthal plans to introduce an amendment to change the designation of the new cabinet-level agency to the Department of Business, Labor and Consumers.

With jurisdiction over consumer affairs, the department could represent consumers at court actions, speak in their behalf before regulatory agencies and provide information about products.

Unruh, Finch View Regents And Politics

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh and Lt. Gov. Robert Finch agree that no political figures—themselves included—should be on the University of California Board of Regents.
Unruh, a Democrat from Inglewood, and Finch, attending Occidental College's American Assembly yesterday, were asked if the presence of the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker as ex-officio members of the board thrusts politics into university affairs.
"I think it does," Finch said. "And as a matter of fact, the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker should not be on the Board of Regents. It should be an entirely autonomous body."
Said Unruh: "I don't think any of us ought to be on the Board of Regents, but I'm not exactly sure what the Board of Regents should be composed of."
Unruh also urged at the meeting that the power of the state legislature be increased. Such changes would give the legislature power to call itself into extraordinary sessions and determine its own agenda, Unruh said, adding:
"The legislatures of 12 other states have this power, and it makes little sense to me to deny it to the finest legislative body in the nation."

Four-Inch TV Set Is Stolen Service Shop

Theft of a four-inch television set worth $179 was reported Wednesday to Mill Valley police by Mrs. Fumiko Shiro, office girl at Tad's TV and Radio Service, 398 Miller Avenue. The set was taken by two unidentified men in the mid-20s, she said, while she was testing a tube for them.
Mill Valley Supt. of Public Works Ross Benson told police that 10 gallons and a set of eight spark plugs was stolen from the city corporation yard during the weekend.

Theft of $80 in cash, a radio and two cameras was reported by Mrs. Ruth C. Gustafson, 17 Thalia Street. The stolen items were taken while her house was empty, she said.

Airport Fund Fear Quieted By Mitchell

There is no funding gap in the county airport improvement project at Novato, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell announced today.
On Tuesday, the county public works department reported that county and federal funds available will fall $21,000 short of the total $553,540 project. Mitchell, however, was not consulted prior to the public works department report.
He said that a hold on $18,000 in state gasoline tax payments toward the airport and collection of fees from the operation of the present airport will eliminate any deficit.
Mitchell had placed a hold on the $18,000 after the state controller's office questioned eligibility of Marin County receipt of such funds due to the lease of the facility to a private operator. The state's reservation on eligibility has been lifted, Mitchell reported.

Marin Volunteers Aid Retarded Board

Two Marin County residents have been appointed directors of Helpers of the Mentally Retarded, a private nonprofit corporation with headquarters in San Francisco.
They are Dr. Hulda E. Thlander of Tiburon, for many years with Children's Hospital Development Center, and Joseph L. Nannery Jr. of Mill Valley, a past president.

TELEVISION REVIEW
Ike's Churchill Affection Shines

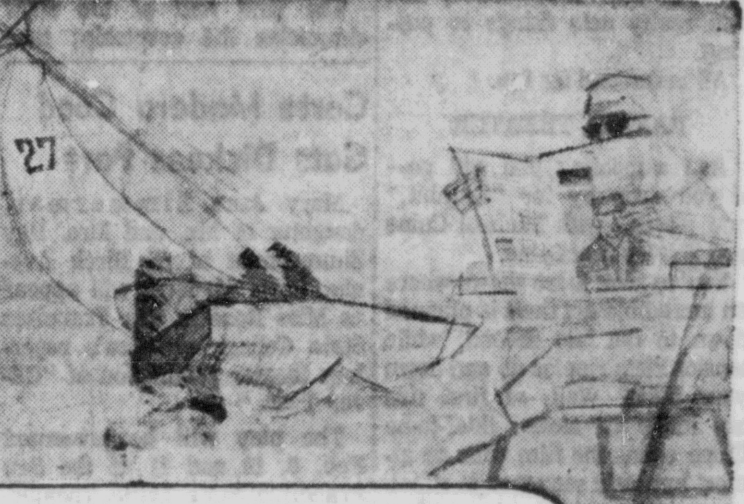

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Dwight D. Eisenhower discussed Winston Churchill for an hour on "ABC Stage 67" last night, and his genuine affection and admiration for his wartime colleague made for a touching and bracing telecast.

The former President had as his partner in conversation the journalist Alistair Cooke, who once was host of television's "OmniBus" program and is a Churchill authority in his own right. The matching of reporter and public figure was excellent in the broadcast as the chat at the Eisenhower farm near Gettysburg, Pa., was no mere interview but a give-and-take affair.

More than once, Eisenhower and Cooke delighted each other—and the viewer as well—as they supplemented each other's knowledge of Churchill with anecdotes and observations. This informality, plus the occasional formality of a map, a photograph, a film clip or a recording to illustrate a point, gave the hour a well-balanced and attractive wholeness.

At one point, for instance, while discussing Churchill's military ability—which was the basis of the program—Cooke noted that although the British leader finished last in his class at Harrow, he later, at Sandhurst, came in first in "tactics and fortifications." Whereupon Eisenhower recalled his own schooling and observed that there was something of a parallel in their experiences along these lines.

BASIC APPEAL
At another point in the program, "General Eisenhower on the Military Churchill," the camera focused on a painting the former President did of his British colleague, and which now hangs over his fireplace at Gettysburg. Eisenhower recalled that Churchill had recommended painting to him. But most it was Eisenhower's appreciation of Churchill as a man—and his forthright view of him, history aside—that furnished the hour with its basic appeal.
"ABC Stage 67" also scored another plus this week when four of its directors were nominated for the awards of the Directors Guild of America. They are: Frank Perry, for Truman Capote's "A Christmas Memory"; Stanley Prager, for Murray Schisgal's "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski"; Sam Peckinpah, for an adaptation of Katherine Anne Porter's "Noon Wine"; and Alex Segal, for "The Confession," a police drama. There were only 10 nominees overall.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Rugby addicts insist their game is the most rugged and most demanding of all the sports. They point to the swift pace at which the ball is constantly on the move, and to the hard contact between men equipped with nothing in the way of padding. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine features a story about one group of ruggerers—the Marinets who play with the championship Olympic Club team of San Francisco.

Some people go abroad primarily to see the sights. Others visit foreign lands to meet and get to know the people. Definitely in that category are the young students who spend their summers abroad under the auspices of the Experiment in International Living program. Your Independent-Journal supplement tomorrow tells you about that program in Marin, and particularly at Sir Francis Drake High School.

LIGHTING UP—Jane Fonda and Dean Jones light the candles in the screen adaptation of "Any Wednesday" now playing at the Tamalpais

MARIN FILM FARE

'Any Wednesday' Now Playing At Tamalpais; 'Gambit' On

By LES DARD

Some of the biggest shows of the season are in the Marin area this weekend. Let's take a look:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Jane Fonda, Jason Robards, Dean Jones and Rosemary Murphy are now featured in the brand new "Any Wednesday," cinema version of the stage hit. The situation is simple; it's the handling that counts. Married tycoon Robards is a lively character who's "out of town" every Wednesday, except to Miss Fonda. He's set her up in an "executive suite," paid for as a business expense.

She's really such an amiable, nice-girl sort that one wonders how she got herself into such a situation. But it soon comes out that she's hopelessly romantic and scatterbrained. She also has a penchant for bright balloons and prolonged states of weeping. All this also makes her just the match for young, handsome Dean Jones, who is unknowingly sent to the "executive suite" by Robards' secretary. This misdirected soul also manages to direct Robards' wife (Miss Murphy) to Jane's residence, and this really sets things to popping.

All in fun and for fun.

RAFAEL THEATER

And a spoofing you will go—if you drop by for "Gambit," now playing with Michael Caine and Shirley MacLaine.

You've seen those shows where an incredible art theft is planned down to the last second, while tension runs ripples up and down your back? Well, at first this one looks the same: thief-to-be Caine opens the film with an almost hypnotic sequence in which he envisions how his perfect crime will work.

But in the world of reality, everything gets bungled and confused for Caine and his partner, Miss MacLaine.

Caine makes his ineptness thoroughly likable, and Miss MacLaine is always attractive.

NOVATO THEATER

Wild hilarity with Peter Sellers is the fare with "After the Fox," now showing.

Sellers plays the Fox, one of Italy's leading lawbreakers, who bounces out of prison to save his sister's virtue, and is soon thoroughly entwined in a thin spider-web of a plot.

Don't miss Victor Mature doing a devastating self-parody: of an aging, sagging matinee idol. Martin Balsam is also featured. The second show is "The Return of the Seven," rip-roarin' sequel to "The Magnificent Seven" of some years back, with some of the original cast.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau star in "Fortune Cookie," a comedy for the whole family.

Co-featured is "What Did You

Bricks, Beams Rain Down In Death Building

NEW YORK (AP) — "I thought 'This is it, my God, this is it!'" said William Ferrell. "I yelled 'Oh, Lord, Oh, Lord, someone help me! Please!'"

There was a cracking sound. Then a loud boom. Bricks and beams rained downward. A cloud of white dust rolled through the area.

Ferrell, 33, was one of 10 men working inside a century-old, four-story apartment house under demolition in mid-Manhattan when the building collapsed yesterday.

Four were known dead, including two whose bodies were recovered early today as rescue teams worked through the night under floodlights.

One other man was still entombed, and believed to be dead. Rescue workers sighted his body under tons of debris and were cutting a shaft through the rubble to reach him.

Ferrell was one of five men pulled alive from the 50-foot pile of rubble shortly after the building collapsed at 1 p.m.

Thousands of persons gathered near 54th Street just east of Broadway to watch more than 300 fire, police and hospital workers dig their way through the debris, brick by brick, in an effort to free those entombed.

Ferrell spoke as he lay in a hospital, blood plasma flowing into an arm.

"I felt the floor sliding," he recalled. "Something I remember was when I said to myself, 'I know I'm falling, I'm falling. I'm dropping to the ground.' The next thing I remember was when I opened my eyes."

"I saw a little bit of light. I yelled, 'Oh Lord! Oh, Lord, someone help me. Please.' I was in about three feet I think. I was covered with dirt but I could see some light."

San Rafael's Band To Play At Festival

San Rafael High School Band will play in the California Music Educators stage band festival next Saturday, Feb. 4, at South San Francisco High School.

One of 33 junior and high school bands and orchestras from 14 counties, the San Rafael band will play at 10:35 a.m.

Novato Evening Space Age Class Is Proving Popular

By THERGN A. NEWELL

If anyone doubts that this is the aerospace age, he should attend one class of Novato High School's adult evening school aerospace course.

Although the course is technical, it is designed to be understood said Robert McKeay, evening school principal.

To show how technical it is, it may be taken for credit in the upper division at Sonoma State College. It may also be taken for one unit of science for a diploma from Novato High School. Or it may be taken just for fun, McKeay said.

It must be stimulating for there are now two sessions with more than 80 registered for the classes from 7 to 10 p.m. each Wednesday at the school.

Starting this week, a person can audit without charge or credit, McKeay said. It runs from Jan. 9 through March 17, he said.

Topics covered include basic laws of motion and gravitation, evolution of air transportation, meteorology and functions of the various aviation and space agencies.

Space flight study includes a review of scientific, private and military space efforts in missiles, satellites and space vehicles; impact of aerospace developments on concepts of geography, time and space on man's social, economic and political environment; jet and rocket; space biology and potentials of lunar and interplanetary space explorations.

Another feature of the course is the variety of instructors who teach various aspects. Directing it is Mrs. Coral Bloom,

Toll-Free Phone Hearing Delayed

What is expected to be the final hearing by the California Public Utilities Commission on proposals for toll-free telephone service between Novato and San Rafael has been postponed from Wednesday to Feb. 15.

The postponement was asked by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western California Telephone Co., who have advised the commission they are nearing agreement on a formula for rates and division of revenues of the service.

If agreement is reached, it will end discussions begun two years ago. The hearing is slated for 10 a.m. in the state building San Francisco.

Par-Wrecking Pros Have Picnic In L.A. Tourney

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Nicklaus looked at the scoreboard which showed an enormous amount of par wreckage in the first round of the $100,000 Los Angeles Open Golf tournament, shook his head and said: "Sure I'm surprised. I didn't expect so many low scores."

Thirty-eight professionals fractured par 71 and went back to work on it again in the second round today.

The pros had a picnic over the Rancho Municipal course after last week's struggle against the Pebble Beach layout in the Bing Crosby tourney.

"Here you've got a chance to scramble," volunteered Nicklaus. "At Pebble if you gamble you wind up in the ocean."

Golfers generally decline to criticize a course, but the leader going into the second round, Jacky Cupit did approach the matter indirectly.

"I don't know what it is about the course," said the young pro from Longview, Tex., "but I'm trying to make myself like it."

Cupit, who admittedly has never scored well at Rancho and usually hits better competitive form later in the year, had a 33-33—66, five shots under par.

The kings of the field were less fortunate. Nicklaus had a 69, Arnold Palmer a 70 and National Open Champion Billy Casper 72.

Cupit's position was perilous. Eight pros were just one stroke behind. Included were Art Wall, Jr., Gay Brewer and Julius Boros, as well as Don Massengale, Billy Martindale, Doug Sanders, Dave Hill and Lou Graham.

Tied at 68 were Chuck Courtney, Johnny Pott and Jerry Steelsmith, while Nicklaus had six companions in the 69 group.

Palmer was even more crowded, with 18 others at 70.

"I missed a lot of greens. It wasn't a real good round," said Nicklaus. "But I'm in good position."

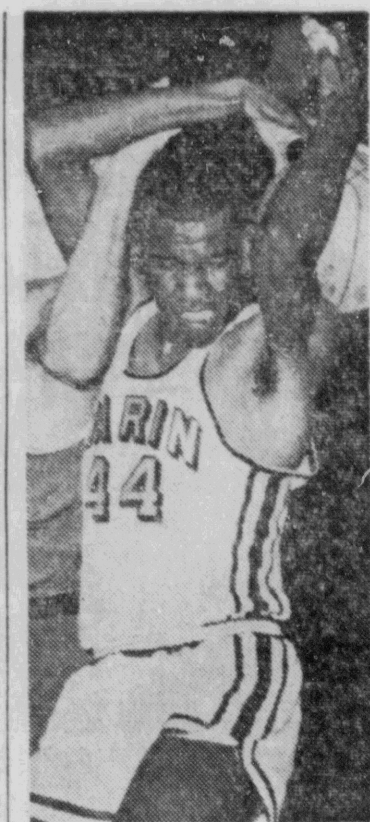

Palmer almost ran into trouble on the ninth hole where in 1961 he struggled through a seven-over-par 12. It was Arnie's finishing hole again yesterday. On his second shot with a 3-wood, the ball hooked one foot from the high fence to the left of the fairway.

It forced Palmer to hit left-handed with a 1-iron. He succeeded in hitting onto the green and got down in two putts for par 5.

Casper's usually solid putting was off. He said he didn't sink a putt beyond four feet and had but two birdies.

There was also, he noted, much truck traffic through the service roads of the course which distracted him. Rancho offers much more than just bunkers and fences and trees.

Marin Tars Home For The Weekend

The traveling Tars have returned.

After spending a large part of their Golden Valley Conference schedule away from home, College of Marin's basketballers host two GVC foes this weekend, beginning with a game against Yuba at 8 tonight and another Lassen tomorrow night at 8.

The Tars are riding high in the saddle of the Western Division with a 5-1 record. Closest is Napa at 1-4.

Yuba could lose a special problem. It has a 3-2 record in the generally tough Eastern Division which includes Siskiyou, perpetrator of the Tars' only conference loss.

Independent Journal Sports

Jan. 27, 1967 33

Yuba will have a slight height advantage over the Tars, led by 6-6 Brian Egly at forward.

But the Tars, who are over the .500 mark at 11-9 for the season, can throw more firepower at Yuba, with three starters averaging in the double figures led by Bill Pandiani, (16-point average) and followed by Russ Smith (12) Terry Overlid (11.7) and Bob Phillips (11.0).

Yuba has only one starter in doubles. He's guard Ken Griffin who has been hitting at an 11.7 clip and has a 33-point performance to his credit.

But the rest of the Yuba starters are at least past the five-point mark, with Egly at 8.0, 6-1 Chuck Hein at 7.8, 5-10 Ken Davidson at 7.0 and 6-4 Mike McAlpin at 6.5.

Yuba, which has easy victories over College of the Redwoods and Santa Rosa, is 3-11 on the season. One of its conference losses came to Siski by seven points, the same margin by which the Tars suffered their only loop loss.

Indoor Sport Goes Outdoors For Rod-Gun Birthday Party

BAITER UP—The mere thought of baiting a hook or assassinating a defenseless little bundle of venison nauseates me.

But, since the Marin Rod and Gun Club celebrates its 40th anniversary at an annual stag banquet tomorrow night, it behooves me to devote today's effort to the great outdoors, which is quite a project for this great indoor sport.

DID YOU know that the MRGC's charter membership totalled 35; today numbers approximately 1,800?

OR THAT the club owns the world's largest striped bass fishing pier, that nearly half-mile long structure at Pt. San Quentin? Back in the early 1930s the MRGC purchased the pier and approximately 35 acres of underwater land from the California and Hawaiian Sugar Co. for $600. That must have been the original Red Tag Days. Reelly and truly.

PAUL B. WARE

THE FIRST MRGC banquet was held at Star Theater, San Anselmo (Porky and Bass?) and in the interim has moved around to Ancha Vista Hotel in S.A., Fairfax Pavilion, Matt Ryan's Chevrolet Garage and Bianco's Garage in San Rafael, Whitey Litchfield's Bermuda Palms and finally, for about the past five years, in the club's own clubhouse.

The beautiful clubhouse, by the way, is 11 years old.

LAST YEAR California game wardens made 16,726 arrests amounting to $506,091 in fines. The naughtiest violators were those fishing without a license (5,820 arrests last year). Carrying loaded guns in vehicles resulted in 1,664 arrests, the second leading offense.

SPEAKING OF such, did you know that Game Warden Al Giddings was a star pitcher in his youth? Big Al, in fact, pitched Balboa High to its first major championship in 1936.

MONTE MONTGOMERY at Novato's Green Rock Pheasant Hunting Club just received from Arizona a shipment of young game bird turkeys for a series of shoots starting in mid-May. Guides will take groups of four to six hunters on the shoots each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday until about 1,000 of the birds are bagged. (You can eat all the white meat, mother, 'cause father's coming home after dark.)

THE DEER kill in Marin last season was 543 as compared to 1965 buck score of 515. But archers showed a decrease of six to four in the same period.

LAST SUMMER the generous Department of Fish and Game released 76,000 catchable trout in Marin lakes and I'll bet there aren't many left. But just this week the DFG planted 35,000 subcatchables in Bon Tempe Reservoir and 50,000 subs in Nicasio Reservoir for your 1967 fishing enjoyment.

OUR SOVEREIGN state has 1.8 million licensed fishermen, 400,000 deer hunters and 225,000 ring-necked pheasant hunters but only 135,000 duck hunters. Because it costs more to go after quackers, by golly, I said with mallard aforethought.

ONE OF THE MRG's unsung heroes and truly nice guys is Paul B. Ware who will embark on his 14th consecutive year as secretary tomorrow night. A special round of applause for this hard-working sportsman.

AND IN conclusion I want to remind you that Charley Schmelz is still one of the I-J's fishing correspondents. Do you know Charley Schmelz? His friends do.

P.S.—Have a happy birthday party tomorrow night, MRGC. Remember, life begins at 40, sporty.

Pirates Lead All The Way

By ROB HARVEY

Big Jerry Sprout rifled a perfect pass to hard-cutting forward Don Alvarado and Drake High's Pirates were en route to a 57-50 Marin County Athletic League basketball triumph over Redwood last night at Larkspur.

It was a hard-fought battle, with coach Carl Brown of Drake and Redwood's Dick Hart engrossed in the dual of keen strategy to boot.

Brown, who installed a zone for the first time this year, won hands down. He had an ace in the hole to start with (Sprout) and two showing (forwards Chet Carlisle and Don Alvarado), whom he cited for their excellent defensive play, particularly the latter.

Sprout (6-6) loomed as a giant on the hardwood. The all-conference senior put a dent in his 17-point league average with only eight points. But he blocked several shots, gobbled up 14 of Drake's 44 rebounds and just his mere presence around the key made Redwood's cagers reluctant to try shots from the top of the circle. You couldn't blame them.

DRAKE BLITZ
Guards Stu Clemons and Karl Stein had carried the Pirates scoring-wise throughout the first period and the second-quarter spotlight was shared by Stein, Carlisle and Alvarado, who between them tallied 14 of Drake's 17-point blitz. That made it 30-22 at the half.

A "sleeper" in the first quarter with but one bucket to his credit on a fine fake and drive around Redwood's Larry Blackwell, the veteran Carlisle woke up and opened the second quarter with a six-foot jumper, drew a one-shot foul only seconds after Stein canned a shortie batted out by Sprout, and proceeded to top all scorers with 17 points on four field goals and nine from the free throw line.

Redwood had been kept in the game by Jack Fitzhenry, playmaker Andre Horn and George Bertram offensively, while Jim Marc and Tom Seidenberg were playing Sprout tough defensively.

RUGGED ZONE
But Redwood actually could not crack Drake's rugged zone defense and Horn—who once flew through the air to sink the game's most beautiful shot—was pretty much bottled-up all night and wound up with 12 points on five fielders and two free throws.

Both teams actually had a nightmare from the floor, Drake connecting on just 31 per cent (20-63) and Redwood at an equally chilly 30 per cent (19-62).

The Pirates rank behind unbeaten Tamalpais (5-0) in the MCAL standing with a 5-1 record. Redwood now is tied for third with San Rafael at 3-3.

DRAKE	G	FT	ST	REDWOOD	G	FT	ST

SPECK-TACULAR SEARCH—No, they're not looking for an invisible rabbit with a hare-lip. It's the old basketball search for lost contact lenses. Drake's Chet Carlisle (25, dark jersey) has lost his and he's helped out by Redwood's Gary Peters (25), Andre Horn (standing) and Al Fritz as well as teammate Jerry Sprout while Pirate coach Carl Brown supervises. Drake won anyway, 57-50.

Sandy's Painful, Losing Battle

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AU) — Sandy Koufax is as coldly realistic facing arthritis as he was facing Willie Mays in the batter's box. He knows the arthritis will get worse. He knew Willie Mays could hit home runs.

"The joint of my left arm is pitted. You can look at the X rays. The arthritis is not going away. It's here. Maybe if I don't pitch I won't lose the movement of the arm until I'm 50 or older. If I do pitch maybe I'll lose it in two years."

Koufax is now 31. Last November at the very height of a sensational career he retired as a Los Angeles Dodger after making a reported $125,000 salary in 1966 and took a job as an announcer with the National Broadcasting Co. at $100,000 or so.

Over 12 years in the majors he won 165 games, lost 87 for an average of .655, and had 2-396 strikeouts, only 189 short of the National League career record held by Warren Spahn. He was the league's Most Valuable Player in 1963, and won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors in 1963, 1965, and 1966 — the only man to win it more than once.

Now that he is not pitching, says Koufax, "It is not going to hurt as much. But the condition is going to get worse. I only hope it will take longer to get worse. As you get older the joint deteriorates more, and there is more pain and less movement."

"Anything that you do constantly provides pressure on a joint. That's why I quit pitching. I'm confining my sports now to things that don't aggravate my left arm. Fortunately I can still play golf. But if I try to lift a heavy object with my left arm I know about it for the next four or five days.

"I've been offered lots of cures, but if there were any cures there wouldn't be any arthritis."

Koufax is a natural as a sportscaster. He speaks easily and with confidence. He gives the impression of a thoughtful, educated man. In fact he attended the University of Cincinnati. Despite his new job he does not plan any elocution lessons.

"I hope what I learned over the last 12 years has prepared me," said baseball's greatest left-hander.

FIGHTER OF YEAR?

Clay Snubbed Again By Boxing Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second time since it started making an annual award, Ring Magazine has passed up naming a Fighter of the Year because it frowned on some of the non-boxing activities of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

The boxing monthly said that strictly on the basis of his ring achievements, which included five title defenses during the year, Clay deserved the Fighter of the Year citation for 1966.

"The Fighter of the Year must be recognized as an example to the growing American boy," the magazine said, adding that Clay did not qualify this year. It pointed out that Ring awarded Clay the citation in 1963.

Since 1963, Ring said, Clay has allied himself with the Black Muslims, "who avowedly are not friendly toward the United States of America," said Ring; has protested his draft into the Army, and "has been guilty of utterances which have not redounded to the credit of boxing."

Ring said that it passed up the 1963 award, which it said should have gone to heavyweight champion Primo Carnera of

Nancy Richey Gains Finals In Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., advanced to the women's singles finals of the Australian Tennis Championships today with a 6-4, 6-1 victory over Kerry Melville of Australia in a semifinal match.

Miss Melville produced a series of splendid drives and broke Miss Richey's service in the eighth game to level the first set at 4-4. Retrieving brilliantly while playing conservative tennis, the American gained a service break to lead 5-4.

Miss Richey clinched the first set when the Australian second seed overdrove her shots. Winning the opening set seemed to inspire the young Texan, who continually attacked the net and forced her opponent into numerous errors.

Miss Melville showed little fight and Miss Richey never was seriously challenged to take the set and match. The Australian girl consistently overhit several drives and failed to exploit Miss Richey's known overhead weakness.

The Australian Davis Cup doubles team of John Newcombe and Tony Roche won the men's doubles final in a power-packed five-set match against countrymen Owen Davidson and Bill Bowrey. The scores were 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-8, 8-6.

Warriors End Home Stand Vs. Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors end a three-game National Basketball Assn. home stand tonight in a tilt with the revised Baltimore Bullets at the Cow Palace, 8:30 o'clock.

The Warriors lead the Western Division by 10 games; the Bullets are at the bottom of the Eastern Division.

Mel Counts won't be in the Baltimore lineup, but Ray Scott will be.

A three-cornered deal 11 days ago sent Counts from Baltimore to Los Angeles, Rudy LaRusso from Los Angeles to Detroit and Scott from Detroit to Baltimore.

The deal stirred a lot of controversy. The NBA Board of Governors settled it Thursday by ruling unanimously that the trade was a "binding and valid transaction."

The Warriors will be without guard Jim King tonight and he probably will not make the upcoming road trip to Cincinnati for a game with the Royals Jan. 29, to Greensboro, N.C., for a game with Boston Jan. 30 and to New York for a game with Detroit Jan. 31.

The Warriors return to the Bay Area for a Feb. 2 game with Philadelphia at Oakland.

Palmer Doesn't Know
What 'Careful' Feels

Let me tell you today about a guy who'll never make it big. He'd bet a pair of treys into a pat hand. He'd cross Niagara Falls on a piece of dental floss, blindfolded. He'd order hash in a waterfront diner. He'd drink the water in a banana republic. He'd swing at an 0-and-2 pitch in the seventh game of the World Series with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth. He'd pass from the end zone in the first quarter with a lead. He'd spot Cassius Clay the first punch or Billy the Kid the first shot.

He'd buy oil stock from a guy with a mustache in a checked suit. He'd take a chance on the Brooklyn Bridge from a guy running away from the cops at the time. He'd try to make seven with one die.

He wouldn't take a pitch, lay a punt, ground a pass, kill the clock, settle for a tie, or drop out of a poker hand with anything less than seven cards if his whole poke was riding.

If he was Albania, he'd declare war on Russia. He'd chase an armed man up a dark alley, pitch pennies with J. Paul Getty, fight a lion for a hamburger, skin-dive in a school of sharks.

Arnold Palmer just doesn't know the meaning of the word "careful."

You take Monday. He comes up to the 14th hole tied for the lead in the Crosby Tournament — right? O.K. So you hit a good tee shot. A little right-ish but still playable. Your second shot is a nice comfortable iron to the opening in the green. Right?

Wrong! You jerk a wood out of the bag and try to hole it from 300 yards. You fly it out of bounds.

NOW, you take the iron and try to salvage a bogey. Right? Uh-uh. You fly ANOTHER one out of bounds. NOW you learn your lesson. Right? No chance.

THIS one, you fling into a trap. You take a 9 on the hole.

Congratulations, Arnold! You have just shot yourself out of the tournament. You have just fallen off the tightrope into Ausable Chasm once again. You have just been beaten by a pat hand once again. You have just lost the war, been bitten by the sharks, gotten ptomaine from the hash. You have just bucked

Bruins Invade Chicago; Cal, Stanford Triumph

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA's Bruins, the nation's No. 1 team, tests the basketball forces of Illinois and Chicago's Loyola tonight and tomorrow night and Coach Johnny Wooden says he's worried about getting the team up for the non-conference affairs.

With a 14-0 season mark, the Bruins have been up most of the time and Lew Alcindor all the time as the sophomore towers at 7-1 and awes the opposition.

A snowstorm closed Chicago's O'Hare Airport yesterday and forced the Bruins' plane to land at St. Louis. The team then took a train to Chicago.

Most of the West Coast schools remain idle with only limited action.

Brigham Young plays in the double bill with UCLA at Chicago and meets Loyola tonight and Illinois on Saturday night.

In the other action tonight, Montana is at Washington. The TOKYO (AP) — The United States trounced Peru 3-1 to post its second victory in the fifth Women's World Volleyball Championships. The scores were 15-3, 11-15, 15-9, 15-13.

It was the second defeat for Peru, which lost its first match to Japan in the opening of the championship yesterday.

Japan defeated South Korea 3-0 to collect its second win. It was the second defeat for the South Koreans, who lost to the United States yesterday. The scores today were 15-3, 15-3, 15-4.

Japan is favored to win the championship.

Aussie Cops Spotlight In N.Y. Track

NEW YORK (AP) — There was smoke in Kerry O'Brien's eyes, Novocain in Bob Seagren's back and an elbow in Dave Patrick's ribs.

O'Brien, the Australian distance runner, and Patrick, the collegiate mile champion from Villanova, managed to overcome their handicaps at the Millrose Games last night. But Seagren, who threatens his own indoor pole vault record of 17-1 victory every time he steps out on the runway, ended up a little frustrated.

The 19-year-old University of South California record-holder had to settle for a best vault of 16-7, which was still good enough to set a Madison Square Garden record.

Seagren arrived late and in hurrying through warmups, pulled a muscle and had to submit to a shot of Novocain in the dressing room.

"It's really not an excuse," said Seagren. "I should be able to do 17-2 with my eyes closed."

For O'Brien, however, the meet was far more encouraging. The 20-year-old resident of Adelaide arrived in New York Tuesday and not until he stepped up to the start of the two-mile, had he ever so much as seen a board track.

Countryman Tony Benson, whose baptism on the boards in Boston earlier this month was frustrating, warned O'Brien what he might be in for. But with 2 1/2 laps left in the race, O'Brien ran away from Benson and the rest of the field, winning in 8:36.6, a Millrose record.

"I was surprised how fast my time was," said O'Brien. "The cigarette smoke pinched my lungs real bad." He was rewarded by being named outstanding athlete of the meet.

As for Patrick, he survived a bad start in the mile in which somebody implanted an elbow in his ribs and, after a false start was called, came off the blocks the second time and set a meet record for the mile with a 4:03.7.

Another satisfying victory went to Bill Crothers of Toronto, who won his third Millrose 880. Crothers, a 26-year-old druggist caught Georgetown's Ricardo Urbina just before the wire with a torrid finishing kick, winning in 1:53.2.

Other winners were John Thomas, now with the Boston AA, who took the high jump at 7-1; Willie Davenport of Southern University, who won the 60-yard hurdles in 7:2; Charley Greene of Nebraska, who took the 60-yard dash from Bill Gaines at 6.3; Bob Zieminski of Georgetown, winner of the 1,000 at 2:11.6; Charley Mays of New York's Grand Street Boys with a 57.0 in the 500 and Martin McGrady of Central, Ohio, State, who won the 600 in 1:10.9.

Cassius Eyes Folley As Next Challenger

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cassius Clay says he would like to fight Zora Folley if he gets by Ernie Terrell next month.

Clay and Terrell settle the disputed heavyweight championship Feb. 6 in the Astrodome. Clay is the consensus champion and Terrell is recognized as champion by the World Boxing Assn.

Since Clay began training here two weeks ago he has mentioned other possible future opponents such as George Chuvalo, Floyd Patterson, Sonny Liston and Thad Spencer but now he has narrowed the list to Folley.

"He's been around a long time," Clay said of Folley, the Chandler, Ariz., ring veteran. "He hits hard and he's tricky but he's slow. Floyd Patterson ducked him. When I retire, I want it said that I fought everybody."

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, said Folley may be the one Clay wants to fight next but the decision will be up to manager Herbert Muhammad.

Occasionally Clay even talks about fighting three men on the same night — with his title at stake each time.

However, Clay apparently is not looking beyond Terrell. He put in his hardest workout yesterday by boxing nine rounds, four with Jimmy Ellis and five with Mel Turnbow.

Ellis, who meets Johnny Persol Feb. 24 in a Madison Square Garden bout, said Clay "can hurt you with a jab."

"He's so quick, he gets a lot of snap into it," Ellis said.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, worked out in front of a crowd that included

NBA Rules Trade Valid And Binding

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Assn. has spoken, and now it's Rudy LaRusso's turn.

The 6-foot-8 forward said last night he will have an announcement in Los Angeles today that might shed a bit more light on the attempted three-team trade that would have sent LaRusso to the Detroit Pistons.

At present, the deal and the Los Angeles veteran hang in suspension after the NBA Board of Governors said the trade was a "binding and valid transaction."

LaRusso said earlier he would retire rather than report to Detroit and was suspended by the Lakers. However, the Lakers then reinstated him and claimed the deal had been voided.

But the Board of Governors nullified the reinstatement because since the time of the trade, "the contract of Rudy LaRusso has been the property of the Detroit Pistons."

"Under our player contracts, either the club he is with or the club to which he's going can suspend a player if he fails to report," said League President Walter Kennedy. "But his old club cannot lift the suspension."

The trade sent LaRusso to Detroit, Ray Scott to Baltimore and Mel Counts to Los Angeles. Both Baltimore and Detroit protested LaRusso's reinstatement by Los Angeles and the Lakers' claim that the deal had been voided.

Kennedy said no qualification was made before the deal concerning the possibility of one of the players retiring.

PREP CAGE TONIGHT

High-Flying Tam Vs. Lowly Novato

The best meets the worst while a pair of lower-rung teams jockey for position.

That's the menu for tonight's Marin County Athletic League basketball action as league-leading and undefeated Tamalpais visits Novato, winless in five league starts and Terra Linda, (2-3) takes on Marin Catholic (1-4) at Kentfield. Both games will be played at 8:15 tonight.

The Indians, barring further floods or a major miracle, should complete the first half of league play with a perfect 6-0 record against the luckless Hornets, who have yet to come close to winning a game. Conversely, the Hornets are a good bet to make it 0-6.

If the expected does happen, Tam would have a firm foothold in its bid to unseat Drake as MCAL champ.

The Indians certainly have the weapons to do so. They have the third and fifth best scorers in the league in Steve Woodward and Pat Schafer, plus two other fellows who can get into double figures on any given night in Steve Johnson and Floyd Jackson. Leroy Barrow, although not a big scorer, is the top defensive player on the team, and will more than likely draw John Howard, Novato's most consistent scorer.

Woodward jumped to a 15.7 average with a 20-point output against Terra Linda Tuesday while Schafer, the surprise of the league, has a 14.6 average and is the take-charge guy on the boards.

Terra Linda, the dark horse in the league after reeling off three straight victories during which it averaged 78 points a game, was brought down to earth by Tam, 41-71 this week.

What the Trojans will do against Marin Catholic is anybody's guess, although a hint may lie in the fact that they have done exceptionally well at home while collapsing on the road.

Marin Catholic, on the other hand, has never lived up to the great expectations of an outstanding practice season although the Wildcats made a start toward it in a fine showing against Drake this week.

The Trojans are led by forward Fred Smith, the league's leading scorer with a 17.5 average. Ches Bornia, at 6-3 the tallest man on the team, leading the Wildcats with a 10.6 average.

Terra Linda has whipped Novato, 85-51 and San Rafael, 78-45 for its two victories while the Wildcats only win came over Novato in the loop season opener.

A win by the Wildcats could tie them for sixth place with the Trojans for whatever its worth.

Fantastic Run

By Killy In Alpine Downhill

MEGEVE, France (AP) — The fabulous Jean-Claude Killy scored another Alpine downhill triumph for France today, leaving his nearest rival trailing a full two seconds behind his flashing skis in winning the Grand Prix de Megeve.

The 23-year-old customs man, who is world downhill and combined champion, clocked a fantastic 2:13.73 for the 10,550-foot course which plunged 2,664 feet to the finish.

Hanspeter Rohr of Switzerland was second in 2:15.77, and West Germany's Franz Vogler was third in 2:15.80.

The Southeastern Conference, composed of 10 southern colleges, is in its 33rd year.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Law Of Averages Will Win, So More Days Of Fishing On Tap

When it comes to striking a blow for the conservation of fish, we must hand it to old Dame Nature who whumps up a big blow accompanied with heavy rains, to protect her piscatorial subjects. Hardly have we humans dug our way out of one storm when another one happens along.

Oh well—we all know that the law of averages is infallible. Nature is bound to relent in time, and we will again have a good chance of getting in some fancy fishing for striped bass, sturgeon, panfish, salmon and steelhead.

IN SPITE OF adverse conditions there always will be some individual or group who will still make the grade. For example—Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina called me to report some good news. Seems that the well known duo, Tony Centoni and Tom Yamamoto, did themselves proud on strippers, Sunday and the boat, Blue Fish, with only three anglers aboard, boated three nice sturgeon of about 40 pounds average. The party boat, Sturgeon, with five rods in service, landed three sturgeon and one striped bass. Not a very glowing report, to be true, but a sure indication that there is still good action to be had in the Upper San Pablo Bay.

I HAVE HAD several calls lately asking if the plug casting for strippers at Dillon's Point on the Carquinez Strait above the Carquinez Bridge was no more, or could a person get there to try his luck even though the state is busy grading and filling and generally making ready that area for a recreational park. I must answer that it is doubtful to gain ingress over the route followed when Louie and Suetta LaGrone operated the shore fishing at Dillon's Point, but, there is a route taken by some old-timers who parked just off Highway 40 between the Carquinez Bridge and the road to Benicia. It's a fairly short walk over the fields to reach the Point.

Incidentally, this is a time of year when a good run of flounders usually occurs in that area. A BULLETIN FROM the Southern Pacific Rod and Gun Club announces a gala feed and talkfest to be held at the Blue Dolphin, at the San Leandro Marina, on Feb. 8. Secretary Arthur L. Fritz concludes the well written bulletin by writing: "Remember! Feb. 8 is Ladies Night, so bring along your ever-loving wife or girl-friend!" All East Bay members are expected to show up in strength.

A well founded rumor that the fisherfolk of Sausalito will have a chance to win some wonderful awards in a fishing derby to be staged in the very near future. I will have details very soon, so watch for it. It will be for the general public, I was told. A small entrance fee and some big awards, all for the benefit of a worthwhile movement by the Kiwanians.

Safe Boating Is Squadron's Goal

The name Marin Power Squadron is somewhat misleading.

First of all, it is not limited to power boats. And, although it is a club of sorts, it is not a clubhouse club for happy go-lucky sailors.

As commodore Jim Corbett of Larkspur puts it, the squadron has one main aim: "To promote safe boating through education."

To accomplish this aim, the squadron offers a 13-week course in piloting and small boat handling free of charge to the general public twice a year.

The first of these classes started at Redwood High School yesterday. They will continue every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The squadron will still accept students until the second class next Thursday.

In addition, the squadron offers more advanced and complicated courses to its members.

The classes are the squadron's principal activities. There are others, more on a social basis such as the squadron's annual Crab Feed at the Corte Madera Recreation Center tomorrow, and cruises, and meetings.

"We feel there is a definite need for these classes," Corbett said. "After all, this is a boat-conscious area that we're living in."

The Marin Power Squadron, although not the oldest offshoot of the national organization in the Bay area, has grown to be the biggest since its organization in 1959. It now boasts a membership of 340.

The key to the squadron's purposes lies in the basic classes: To be considered for membership, you have to have passed the course. And although it is a basic course, it is a thorough one.

Here's a rundown on the subjects in the order in which they are given:

Safety Afloat; Seamanship; Small boat handling; Equipment and government regulations on standard equipment for all boats; Rules of the road, covering courtesy and right of way; Radio Telephone and its use and manners and customs; Aids to Navigation including buoys; Two sessions on charts; The compass; River piloting; also homework, and problems.

The advanced courses for members cover such subjects as advanced piloting, junior navigation, celestial navigation, engine maintenance, weather, instructor training, etc.

"I won't say that taking the basic course will enable you to pilot any and all kinds of boats," Corbett said. "But it will teach you the basic essential things that every boat owner or would-be sailor must know."

Incidentally, it is not necessary to own a boat either to take the class or to become a member of the squadron.

Drake High Coach Has P. E. Manual Published

Bob Fitzhenry, physical education department chairman and baseball coach at Drake High School, has authored a teaching manual and poster sets which are being published by J. Weston Walch of Portland, Maine.

Fitzhenry, a Kentfield resident, has been teaching physical education for more than 19 years.

The 266-page illustrated manual is entitled, "A Guide on High School Physical Education," designed for physical education teachers, and includes 15 of the most popular activities offered in a well-rounded physical education program.

Each activity is divided into three sections: Beginners, Intermediates and Advanced, with suggested tests and recommended standards for grading each of the three groups.

The poster sets cover nine physical education sports activities for boys, although most of the sports are also applicable to girls' physical education activities. The posters are each 11 by 14 inches in size, printed on cardboard.

The sets cover tumbling; exercises; wrestling; swimming and diving; trampoline; archery, golf, track and field; tennis and badminton; speedball, basketball and football; and softball and volleyball.

300 Students Tapped For Science Honors

WASHINGTON (SS) — The Honors Group of the 26th annual Science Talent Search, the nation's top science competition, is over. The search is conducted by Science Clubs of America, a Science Service activity.

The 300 most promising science students from the 1967 high school graduating classes come from 175 communities in 42 states and the District of Columbia. Each of the 300 has received congratulations with the selection news.

A total of 2,526 students completed all entry requirements before the deadline at midnight, Dec. 27, and thus were qualified for judging. Three hundred of these entrants were selected. These resulted from 23,829 who were sent entry materials.

The outstanding student scientists include 83 girls and 217 boys, with the ratio of girls among the group being determined each year by the percentage of girls among those completing entries. The students selected represent the best of their graduating classes, with 79 per cent of the boys and 89 per cent of the girls being in the top 5 per cent of their classes.

All members will be recommended for admission and scholarship awards to the nation's colleges and universities. Many will receive further recognition in state Science Talent Searches conducted in most states as a part of the national search.

On Feb. 1, 40 members of the honors group will be announced as the top winners of the talent search. They will be invited to Washington, D. C., for the five-day institute to be held March 1-6, during which they will be judged for $34,250 in Westinghouse Science Scholarships and Awards.

All but 14 of the 300 members definitely plan scientific careers. First choice is physics, chosen by 55, with medical science a close second with 51.

Following closely are mathematics, teaching and engineering, with 32, 30 and 28 respectively. Biochemistry, biology and chemistry follow with 19, 18 and 17. The remainder of the group covers nearly every scientific field, with many simply specifying "scientific research."

Of the 14 not specifying plans for a career in science, eight still are undecided, while the other choices are acting, law, patent law, linguistics, writing and business.

Dane Envoy To Visit Aiders Home Party

The Danish ambassador to the United States, Torben Roenne, will attend a reception in his honor at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael.

This is the ambassador's first visit to the west coast, according to the Danish consulate in San Francisco.

Open Season

On Stone Lions

It's open season for lions in San Rafael.

Another king of the jungle was bagged by someone Wednesday — the second in two days.

Peter R. Bisaro froze in his tracks as he left his home at 121 El Cerrito. A 100-pound lion, stone, dark-colored and in a prone position, was missing from the front lawn.

"It's the second time it has been stolen from its cement base," said Bisaro. "Last time it was found on a front lawn in Fairfax."

First bag of the season went Tuesday to a thief who lifted a 50-pound lion cornerstone from the home of William E. Barber at 204 Southern Heights Boulevard, San Rafael.

Sudden Death Preventable In Heart Rhythm Cases

BOSTON, (SS) — The "sudden death" of nearly half of the 500,000 heart attack victims in the United States each year does not come unannounced if the signs are recognized. In some 40 per cent of the cases (which are related to abnormal rhythm), death might be prevented.

The electrocardiograph shows easily recognized abnormalities of heart rhythm — interruptions of the heart beat that can be corrected in time to forestall a full-blown coronary.

No change in the rhythm pattern, however harmless it seems should go untreated, Dr. Bernard Lown, director of the coronary care unit of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital here, says in a report in the current Journal of the American Medical Assn.

Though sudden death "appears to be the hallmark of coronary artery disease," says Dr. Lown, he firmly believes that such "death . . . is not unannounced." Experience, he notes, suggests, in coronary care units suggest, he notes, that death is preceded by easily recognized elec-trocardiographic abnormalities which provide time for countermeasures.

Dr. Lown and his associates cite a year's experience in the Levine Cardiac Center at the hospital where the emphasis has been on the prevention of the rhythm disturbances of the heart in patients who have been admitted after suffering severe heart attacks.

Dr. Lown expressed his firm belief that it is too late to wait until an arrhythmia occurs to take corrective action.

Marinites Face Pig Theft Count

Marin sheriff's officers yesterday arrested two Marin men on a felony warrant from Weaverville Judicial District in Trinity County for alleged theft of two pigs.

George Sequeira and Michael Weigner, both 26 and of 200 Miller Creek Road, posted $1,100 bail each and are to appear in Weaverville for arraignment Feb. 6. The men are accused of taking the pigs—worth over $200—on Jan. 14.

Museum Film Re-Set

Make no mistake about it.

This is dark, deep-throated Bourbon. With a classical kind of body and finish.

It leaves a good rich cling on the side of your glass. And a nice round taste in your mouth.

This is Bourbon the way it used to be. Prime copper-stilled whiskey. Made good and sound.

We fix it from pure goods and a sour mash that goes back more than 75 years.

We fire it gently and draw it off just a little at a time. And even then we only take the prime part of the run.

It's honest, emphatic whiskey.

But it's not going to snap your suspenders, or stop your watch, or crack your eyeglasses straight across.

This is Bourbon as smooth as the rocks in a limestone creek.

Hill & Hill Preferred. Like it or not, we think you'll respect it.
